

No injuries after crash

PETE BALDWIN

Looking it over: A Farmington Hills firefighter investigates an auto accident that looks worse than it is. A car driven by a young Farmington Hills woman crashed nose first into a ravine north of Eight Mile between Middlebelt and Grand River on Oct. 20. Neither the driver nor a passenger were injured, according to the fire department.

Area groups honored for beautiful work

Farmington and Farmington Hills are helping Keep Michigan Beautiful.

On Oct. 15, five groups from the Farmington area were honored at the Keep Michigan Beautiful Annual Awards Conference in Grand Rapids. KMB, a 30-year-old organization, presented awards to 125 individuals, groups and communities for beautification statewide.

In Farmington Hills, Heritage Park was honored in KMB's Hall of Fame for providing recreation and scenery for the community's enjoyment.

Michigan plaques were awarded to the City of Farmington Hills for improvements on 12 Mile Road and the Gill School Playground Committee for providing a "state-of-the-art" playground for community children.

In Farmington, Distinguished Service plaques were awarded to Kara Clayton of the Farmington Historical Museum for producing a nine-minute video; and Laura Myers and Kathleen Bricker for supervising a Farmington heritage quilt project.

Both the video and the quilt commemorate the 125th anniversary of the Farmington's incorporation.
