vid DiChiera for 22 years and have always regarded him as a visionary person. His dreams have brought us to this day."

Many of the guests were comparing notes on Randy and Judy Agley's magical holiday party the night before. Gary and Rita Wasserman, Wilhelm and Argrun Knast, Eleanor and Armand Gopart and Solongo and Norman Messelin were among the weekend party warriors who attended both holiday receptions.

Agley's affair combined music by the Spinners, endless consuming passions by Pam Rigotta and a guest list of who's who that included Gov. John and (very slim) Michelo Engler, Ben and Barbara Malbach, Gene and Marla Applebaum, Shelly and Joel Tauber, Diana and Steve Howard, Katie and Sam Valenti, and Suzi and Burt Farban.

Diana Howard, president of Fashion Group, is working on a benefit to assist the homeless and needy with the newest Auburn Hills Kmart.

At the Troy Tiffany's tiding, guests were doing double takes at the "Holly Golightly" lookalikes Leah Ahuja and Kelly O'Donnell, who floats through the crowd in a "Breakfast at Tiffany's" trademark dress, long black gloves, sunglasses and dazzling jewels. This collection of classic 1940s gold jewelry that easily slips from day to night is the Tiffany & Co. Signature II Collection, introduced for the first time at the MOT spree.

Other sparkling guests included Helen Zuckerman, Morris and Lois Lipnik, Fredrick Mars, Sandy and Roseann Duncan, Peter Cooper, Carol and Bob Wendzel, Jackie Mularoni and MOT Guild president Ginny Clementi, MOT president and former Kmart chairman Robert and Nancy Dewar.

Michigan Opera Theatre's jewel of a director, David DiChiera, noted upcoming performances of "La Boheme" (April 24 to May 2), "Aida" (May 15-23) and Tchaikovsky's "Sleeping Beauty" (May 27-30). For tickets call 874-SING.

Jubilee VII

The seventh annual Alzheimer's Association Chocolate Jubilee was a sweet success. Twenty five local celebrities including Rich Flecher, Diana Lewis, Roger McCoy, Jerry Hodak, Jimmy and Brigette Launce, and Eli Zaret were on hand to support WKBD's Amyre Makupson's charity sugar-high patron brunch and confection sampling Nov. 22 at the Ritz-Carlton, Dearborn.

Alzheimer's is a progressive, irreversible neurological disorder that affects an estimated four million American adults. First stages of Alzheimer's are characterized by high-calorie, impulsive judgment, inability to handle routine tasks, lack of spontaneity, disorientation of time and places and depression and terror.

Many of the devoted volunteers working on the steering committee of this high-calorie event have experienced Alzheimer's first-hand with a spouse, parent or grandparent.

Marlene Borman, Jack Gold, Doreen Hermolin, Renee Mahler, Bluma Sigal, and Wayne and more worked hard to make this event happen.

Spotted in the crowd were newlyweds Ruth Spencer and

Jerry Aaron (married Sept. 12, and honeymooned in Paris). Florino Mark made a safe entrance with a bottle of Ferris. Mark was excited about the opening of her new Circle Gallery at the Somerset Collection in Troy.

Nibbling on Chocolate Death was Stuart and Emily Borman and daughter Molly. Very pregnant (due any day) Sherry and Jim Kotal shared their favorite baby names with the Bormans (Adam or Anna).

Committee member Gail Burstein looked hot in a magenta Chanel suit, and Jane Mendel wore a Hino and Malice long and lean black dress. Mendel works with Alzheimer patients at Betsford General Hospital in Farmington Hills.
