Cable TV still communicates

CONNECTION

I is defined and clarified, one philosophical premains remains constant: Law constants constant: Law constants constants. Law continues to reinforce the right and importance of the public to have access to the television medium for free-sion. This is expressed through the encouraging phrase, "to promote the availability to the public of a diversity of views and information."

Recently the Federal Communications Commission has held back licensing renewal on several broadcast channels until the FCC has been shown that the stations provide adequate educational children's programming.

Each television channel is a powerful tool which impacts every viewer. This strength must be respected in our efforts with our public-educational-government channels.

It is important that local producers offer promotional pieces to available distribution sources, so that television viewers know to watch your show. It is not enough to just hope and pray that someone tunes in.

Here is a check list of easy and available sources:

Video prome of your show. Just pull out several action shots and announce date and time.

Article — Press Release to radio, nowspaper, church newsletter, homeowners' association newsletter. When the residential news too newsletter. Provide poster or window/counter piece for guests to promote their appearance to your show.

We release to audience participants and crew to notify them of data and time of cablecasting. Without these efforts, the program may or may not be viewed.

Without these efforts, the program may or may not be viewed.
Each of you has created a strong visual image with each show. Market this image so that it will impact your potential viewing audience.
Romember, your program reinforces our country's most valuable right — the freedom of speech.
