Listed below are some of the Farmington area police incidents, fire calls and court cases reported during the past week.

VANDALISM

An upstairs window of an apartment in the Independence Green Apartments on Madison in Farmington Hills was broken March 29 causing $200 in damage.

The driver's side door of a 1985 Pontiac 6000 parked at Tachi Engineering on Industrial Park in Farmington Hills was smashed out March 30 causing $250 in damage.

A Detroit man was arrested by Farmington Hills Police in connection with vandalism of a window and motorcycle at Farmington Cycle World on Eight Mile in Farmington Hills March 31.

Damage was estimated at $1,600.

ASSAULT

A 25-year-old Farmington Hills woman told police four men in a navy blue Pontiac drove up beside her at the red light on west-bound Eight Mile at Orchard Lake March 28. She heard a "boom" and saw the other car drive into the parking lot of the Poney Express Saloon. When she reached her father's house in Northville, she discovered a hole in the passenger door of her 1990 Ford Bronco. The car with the four men was identified as a Pontiac Firebird registered to a Dearborn Heights woman.

A woman on Laurelwood told Farmington Public Safety officers an ex-boyfriend forced his way into her home and assaulted her when he slammed a door in her face March 30. The suspect is a 26-year-old Grosse Ile man.

BREAK-INS

An Emerson VCR worth $160 was stolen during a break-in of a residence on Collingham in Farmington Hills March 31. The back door frame sustained $45 in damage.

THEFTS

Four hub caps worth $250 were stolen from a 1992 Toyota parked on Orchard Lake March 31.

An IBM Think Pad computer worth $3,788 was stolen from a locked office at Compuware on Northwestern Highway in Farmington Hills March 31 or April 1.

A fax machine was reported missing from Lake Erie Electric in Farmington March 23. Farmington Hills Police are trying to track down some slick criminals after 1,000 pounds of recycled cooking grease was stolen March 31 from the Detroit area restaurant on Orchard Lake in Farmington Hills March 18. Police said the grease, worth about $100, can be sold for use in everything from cosmetics to cattle feed. Several Detroit area restaurants have been hit recently. A vacuum truck was used in the heist.

LARCENY

A Panasonic bread machine valued at $249 was reported stolen March 31 from Cargo Express in Farmington. Witnesses told police a 5-foot-8 white male in an acid washed blue jean jacket entered the store and left with the package. He was last seen in a 1981 Ford Escort driving north on Farmington Road. Similar incidents have been reported at other Cargo Express stores.

Hills man charged in chamber break-in

William Edward Soronen, 26, of Farmington Hills was arrested Thursday on a breaking and entering charge in connection with a March 12 burglary at the Farmington/Farmington Hills Chamber of Commerce offices.

Soronon, who is the son of chamber executive director Jody Soronen, stood mute at his arraignment Thursday at 47th District Court in Farmington. He was released on $1,000 personal bond.

A preliminary exam is set for Wednesday.

Breaking and entering a commercial property is a felony. The maximum penalty is 10 years in jail and a $5,000 fine.

According to police reports, William Soronen was arrested after police saw him leaving the front door of the office shortly after midnight March 12.

Police responded to a call from an employee, who was working late in an adjoining office. The witness reported there was an unknown male outside the rear entrance door of the office.

The man initially told officers he had a key and was looking for materials to do his resume.

He also said he was getting money from petty cash that was owed to him. Police recovered $96 from the man's right front pants pocket.

Intoxicated man found in Dumpster, ticketed

An intoxicated 36-year-old Farmington Hills man, found hiding in a Dumpster in the rear of the Crossroads shopping center in Farmington on March 30, was ticketed for disturbing the peace and larceny.

According to the Farmington Public Safety Department, the man took a taxicab from Detroit to Farmington, and then said he couldn't pay the fare. The cab driver called police, who searched for him at the shopping center at Nine Mile and Farmington roads.

"We had three officers chasing him around the Crossroads plaza," said Gary Goss, public safety director. "They were doing a store-to-store search."

Meanwhile, an employee of the

A&W restaurant in the center found the man in the bed of his pickup truck parked in an alley on the south side of the stores.

"First he said he was just hanging out because he and his wife had had a fight," the employee said. "Then he said he was an escapee from the OCJ (Oakland County Jail) and that his tether had broken.

"Then he ran down the alley."

The employee returned to the A&W and called 9-1-1, but police has already found the man in the Dumpster. The man was not a jail escapee, police said.

"He had a blood-alcohol level of .23, so he was intoxicated," Goss said.
