

Family show: From sing to hip-hop to waltz, the Up With People show at North Farmington Hills High School, May 4, will demonstrate a wide variety of dancing styles from all over the world and throughout the years.

Performance features Up With People

Up With People, an international music group of young adults will conduct a performance 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 4, in North Farmington High School Auditorium, 32500 W. 13 Mile, Farmington Hills.

Tickets are $12 adults, $10 students under 16, and senior citizens, and will be available at the door. Tickets are also available at Venna's Hallmark, 37698 W. 12 Mile, Farmington Hills. For information, call 661-1778.

The international cast of 150 singers and dancers aged 17 to 24, from 26 countries, will present a two-hour, high energy performance of lively and entertaining European and American medleys, as well as other songs and dances representing many countries.

The performance and theme "World in Motion" depicts the scene of a TV broadcast. The Farmington Hills audience becomes the studio audience.

Within the performance many family and world issues are featured, including the importance of education, AIDS awareness, cultural differences and much more. The Up With People goal is to provide an understanding among all nations.

The 150 cast members will be staying with host families in the Farmington Hills area. Staying with the various families encourages work toward the goal "Understanding among all Nations."

Choral group presents concert

The Plymouth Ontario Society will perform George Frederic Handel's Coronation Anthems No. 1 and 2, and John Rutter's "Requiem," 7:30 p.m. Sunday, May 2, in the newly enlarged sanctuary of St. John Neumann Catholic Church, 4400 Warren Road, Canton. There will be no charge for admission, but a freewill offering will be taken. For more information, call 761-2901 or 453-4765.

This is the seventh season for the Plymouth Ontario Society, a semi-professional choral group which performs a major work each spring. The society has more than 100 members who hail from 15 different communities in western Wayne, Washtenaw, Oakland and Livingston counties.

Artistic director Robert Pratt is also conductor of the Chancel Choir at First United Methodist Church of Ann Arbor. He is a graduate of Oberlin Conservatory of Music and the University of Michigan School of Music.

opera and sacred and secular choral works.

The two choral works being performed this season are strikingly different in character, said Pratt.

Handel's Coronation Anthems were composed in 1727 as ceremonial music for King George III and his wife, Queen Caroline. The presence of brass and timpani gives both works an exciting, festive air, and should remind listeners of some parts of Handel's "Messiah."

John Rutter's "Requiem," written in 1985, is a contemporary work dedicated to the composer's father. Following the practice of Brahms and Faure, the piece is not strictly a setting of the Requiem Mass as laid down in Catholic liturgy, but instead is made up of a personal selection of texts, some taken from the Mass and some from the 1662 Book of Common Prayer.

The seven selections of the work form an arch-like meditation on the themes of life and death — the first and last movements — the prayers on behalf of all humanity, movements 2 and 6 are psalms, 3 and 5 are personal prayers to Christ, and the central Sanctus is a ringing affirmation of divine glory. The work as a whole has an almost ethereal air of serene faith.
