Swimwear from page 5B

"There's a tremendous interest in belly buttons and midriff this year," says Hayes. "If you don't like all the exposure, many suits have optional cover-ups like a scarf wrap."

Since some swimwear looks too good to get wet, fashion experts say throw on a sheer skirt, an oversized scarf or jeans and walk to town. For a high-glamour look, Hayes suggests coordinating your suit with new modified platform shoes or mules and a straw hat.

Thanks to a body-conscious society, the bikini and two-piece suits are back in a big way, says Marilyn Conner for Neiman Marcus.

"There are lots of options and interesting new silhouettes for swimwear," said Conner. "The look is definitely sophisticated but fun, too."

If you want to improve your own silhouette, Hot Coles new suit, Top Secret, has a small pump concealed in the underwire bra — just inflate it to the fullness of your choice.

Since shopping for swimwear is likened to hunting for wallpaper, Sak's Cheryl Hall offers tips to make the search easier.

■ Plan a shopping trip strictly to purchase a suit and be determined to buy.

■ Take a friend only if she's as serious about the mission as you are.

■ Wear pantyhose without underwear so you can easily slip on; suits; the hose also give legs a tanned look.

■ Try on several styles in a couple of sizes.

■ Befriend a salesperson and let her run to the racks for you.
