

What a nice day for it!

Seniors on parade: About 50 residents of the Greenery Extended Care Facility in Farmington and at least as many Greenery staffers — including Jessie Bogosian (with banner) and Geri Bleier — participated in the fourth-annual Naitonal Nursing Home Parade Wednesday. Motorists honked horns and people in yards and on porches waved and smiled as the seniors were wheeled through the streets near the facility at Grand River and Gill. The parade included Roma Dean, new administrator at the Greenery. The Farmington High School band, directed by Norman Logan, performed at the parade.

Cops probe burglaries

Farmington Public Safety detectives are investigating a rash of office burglaries.

Since April 27, four small businesses have been broken into, with several thousands of dollars worth of office equipment stolen. Police believe the thefts are related, but have no suspects.

The latest incident was reported Wednesday morning at JMS Associates on Freedom Road. People arrived to find the office burglarized. Anywhere from $3,000 to $4,000 worth of office equipment was missing, including telephones and fax, adding and copy machines.

"We have not seen equipment of this nature taken before... things that are particular to businesses," said Farmington Public Safety Director Gary Goss. "This is something you would turn around and sell to another business."

Computer equipment, answering machines, fax machines and telephone equipment appear to be the main targets, though a television and a microwave oven were reported stolen in one heist.

More than $8,000 in equipment was taken in a pair of burglaries at an adjoining office on Grand River. DBA Limited and Robert Diakow Advertising, both at 32580 Grand River, were hit sometime April 27 or 28. Items worth nearly $4,400 were taken at DBA Limited, including two Packard Bell computers, along with a microwave oven and a television. A Macintosh computer monitor, keyboard and color scanner were reported missing from Robert Diakow Advertising.

In a separate incident at Allstate Insurance, $15 in cash was taken from a desk drawer. The burglary there occurred May 4 or 5.

There appears to be no pattern, according to Goss.

Woman charged in salon robberies

A Redford woman will stand trial in connection with two separate armed robberies at Farmington area tanning salons.

Donna Goodhue, 22, is scheduled to appear before Judge Gene Schuels Thursday, May 27, at Oakland County Circuit Court on two counts of armed robbery. One charge stems from a hold-up April 28 at Tan Faster in Farmington Hills.

Sandra Hoing, also of Redford, was charged with Goodhue in the April 29 robbery of Sun Skins Tanning Center on Grand River in Farmington.

Both Hoing and Goodhue waived their right to a preliminary exam Thursday at 47th District Court. Bond was set at $20,000 or 10 percent.
