Mrs. Jackson To Sing With Max Davey Group

A Livonia lyric soprano and a Farmington conductor will be starred in a concert Saturday, May 1, at 8:15 p.m., in Ford Auditorium, Detroit.

Max Davey of Farmington will present the Max Davey Singers and Orchestra in a concert entitled "Another Night to Remember."

Rosemary Jackson of Livonia will sing songs from "Porgy and Bess," including the ever-popular "Summertime," and will sing duets with another featured soloist, baritone Andrew Gainey of New York City.

THEME OF the concert is music from musicals and Gainey will sing songs from "Man of La Mancha," "Music Man," and "Brigadoon."

Bill Robinson, tenor, will be heard in a special "soul music section."

The Max Davey Singers will present selections from "Born Free" and "Love Story" and a medley of hymns.

Tickets are on sale at the Ford Auditorium or from Mrs. A.J. Eichinger, 25755 Kilreigh Court, Farmington.

MRS. JACKSON is relatively new to the area, but has appeared in two performances with the Plymouth Symphony. She won the Metropolitan Opera Co. audition in first place award in 1962.

Gainey has had leads in 47 different musicals and has appeared in Broadway. For six years he was leading baritone in the New York City Opera Company.

The Max Davey Singers were featured last summer at a special outdoor series held at the Farmington Community Center and are planning to be part of the Special Founders Week pro-

MCA To Subsidize Visits By Artists

Communities interested in having artists-in-residence for up to two weeks may contact the Detroit office of the Michigan Council for the Arts, 10125 E. Jefferson, Detroit, 48214.

They are made possible under the council's broadened artist-in-residence program.

Previous residences were limited to visual arts activities. Now any artists, in performing, environmental, literary, communication or visual arts, may be available through the program.

The council will help locate the right artist for the community's need, possibly someone to lecture on cinematography and film criticism, to conduct an acting workshop or to assist in musical activities for a summer arts festival.

The artist's fee is the council's responsibility while the sponsor must provide for his meals, lodging and work facilities.

The council recommends that the host develop a schedule for the visit that would be useful not only for the sponsoring organization, but also for a cross section of the community.

Glicks Help With Troy Art Fair

Seven Observeland artists have been invited to participate in the first art fair to be held May 8, 7 and 8 in Somerset Mall, Troy.
