Botsford weds fashion and fun

Sunny skies and warm weather prevailed as more than 100 people gathered for Botsford Continuing Health Center's (BCHC) Bridal Fashion Show June 23. BCHC residents, family members, guests and staff viewed the variety of bridal gowns and wedding party attire featured, some dating as far back as 1934.

The gowns were modeled by BCHC staff members and family members of BCHC residents. Linda Mlynarek, FACHCA, administrator of BCHC, introduced the models and highlighted the characteristics of each gown. In addition, guests of the fashion show were provided with a program providing the history of each gown and its description.

After the models walked the runway, a formal champagne toast was presented. A reception followed, featuring a tiered wedding cake and punch. In total, over 15 gowns were modeled, including a special presentation featuring a complete bridal party and family.

"We did everything in our power to make residents feel like they were at an actual summer wedding," said Sally Jacobs, director of social programs. "The warm weather, beautiful gowns and festive atmosphere made for a delightful afternoon."
