Do you know what to expect after your baby is born?

Our nurses assist you and your newborn after you're home.

Botsford's knowledgeable staff of physicians and nurses are dedicated to providing personal, compassionate care for you and your baby—every step of the way. At our pre-natal and childbirth education programs, you'll learn about proper nutrition, what to expect of your labor and delivery, plus you can take advantage of our water aerobics program.

As part of our personalized care, we offer traditional delivery as well as birthing suites and family-centered care. Botsford's neonatologist and pediatric staff are available to care for babies who may need specialized care. Before you leave the hospital, you will receive an educational handbook that provides useful information about caring for your newborn.

Once you are home, a registered nurse will visit you, free of charge, to check on how you and your baby are doing. If you need assistance at any time during your first days at home, our 24-hour telephone hotline will connect you with a Botsford General Hospital nurse, who will gladly answer any questions you may have.

Call Health Match at (313) 442-7900 today for an obstetrician, a pediatrician, or a family doctor referral.
