

Program highlights individual impact of news

LARK SAMOUELIAN

Set your television dial to Channel 12, especially on Tuesdays at 6:30 p.m. and Thursdays at 9 p.m. to be informed on Business and Residential News. Donnell Conway and Lark Samouelian co-produce a weekly news program which captures national, state, county and local information, as it would apply to each individual.

The news is carefully blended and reported to you based on what information would be helpful to you the resident and business individual. This summer the special features on each program have tried to personalize government so that we understand what is really going on. To help facilitate our mission, the following people have participated:

- Susan Heinz — representing the governor's office. She is the director for the Southeastern Michigan branch.
- Congressman Joe Knollenberg explained how the federal will enhance our intersection at Grand River and M-102.

- Doug Rothwell, who is the CEO of the Jobs Commission of the State of Michigan. He spent time explaining to us how the commission takes a corporate approach to getting the right people in the right spots, so that productivity and effectiveness will be the primary results as individuals are designed to work in positions that are best for them.
- Jeffrey Kaczmarek is the manager of Oakland County's Economic Development Department. He stressed how the county established a working relationship with local businesses and includes their input as they take a look at global significance of business transactions within our communities.
- Colleen MacNamara is the Executive Director of the Michigan Cable Television Association. She shed some light on the mission of cable television — how they are listening to the news and not heard news from your homeowners association, your church bulletin, etc., it is probably because we have not received it.

travel and tourism and what type of planning ahead is prepared so that our state will be able to meet the needs and support as the economy changes.

Other resources for the local news include the press releases that organizations you belong to have sent us — dates, times and costs of events are included. We include all information the best we possibly can that is sent to us with a local priority. If you have listened to the news and not heard news from your homeowners association, your church bulletin, etc., it is probably because we have not received it.
