CHICKENS ROOST UPON BUMPER, RIDE 7 MILES

Chickens that, true to tradition came home to roost but selected a novel place for their rest furnish a new motor story. Ed. Clark, Graham-Paige dealer at Deloraine, Manitoba, reported the incident to the factory at Detroit, as follows:

"Mr. E. Tiernan, a prosperous farmer, drove to town last night in his 610 sedan. On his arrival, he wondered at the unusual attention his car was causing. Investigating, he found four of his chickens on his front bumper. They had roosted there when darkness fell, and clung to their perch through the seven-mile drive to town."
