Chaney Case Is Held

Over For Two Weeks

to dealing through real estate brokers, "I told him I had not," said Mr. Lee. "Because we had done so frequently, and often saved money."

In regard to the commission clause, Mr. Lee testified that he had told Mr. Chaney "we could not accept the option because we did not want any property-owner to think he would have to pay a broker or the State five per cent commission. Further, the option was too high. I told him I did not think any property in Clarenceville was worth that, and suggested that he try to get it for less."

Mr. Lee said it was not at all unusual for the State to deal through a broker. However, said Mr. Lee, "I would rather he would not say he was authorized by me."

Defense counsel moved for dismissal, but after Prosecutor Underwood objected, Mr. Sacre placed Mr. Chaney on the stand. Mr. Chaney said his home was in Detroit, that he had been a broker since 1920, and had an office in Clarenceville. He said that it was Mr. Lee's idea to put Mr. Rogers' name on the option as trustee, when the two had talked over other pieces of property, including the "Adventist Church property."

Mr. Chaney testified that on the day he took the first signed paper from Mr. Mack, he took a similar one from Mr. Shaw, and that Shaw had introduced him to Mack. Mr. Chaney testified, said that "Mr. Chaney is securing some options for the good roads."

"As soon as I sat down," testified Mr. Chaney, "I told Mack, 'I'm not representing the State most every year. I'm here Highway Department. I'm here as a real estate broker.' I made it very emphatic, because I got the impression, as I thought he did, that I was being represented as a State Highway representative. He asked $8,000 net, and I told him I did not work on a net basis, but that 'you must place your figure where you can pay me a commission. The State don't pay me."

Mr. Chaney said he could not recall using the word "authorization," but that he had told Mack that Mr. Lee "has no objection to my getting options."

Mr. Chaney testified that Mack had agreed after the first paper was rejected by Mr. Lee, to give Chaney a written agreement for the five per cent commission.

Mr. Shaw took the stand and corroborated Mr. Chaney's testimony. He said that he has known Chaney since September 1 of this year, and Mack about seven years. He understood Mack wanted to sell. He testified also that he has a verbal agreement to pay Chaney five per cent when he receives his money from the State.

Mr. Shaw, in relating the introduction of Chaney to Mack, said that he himself had "made the mistake," and that Chaney corrected him.

Judge Schulte asked Chaney why, if Mr. Lee had told him the price was too high after he obtained the first paper, he then went again to Mr. Mack for an option at a figure no lower than Chaney said he thought both parties had been too busy to go into the matter thoroughly.

Mr. Chaney said he is a licensed real estate broker. Mr. Shaw is an automobile dealer, and Mr. Mack has a responsible position with the Ford Motor Co.

The continuance of the hearing which took place in the City building will be called on December 20, at 2:00 o'clock.

FAMILY GOT THAT NEW ROOF ON HOME AT LAST

Every spring for several years this family was wondering if the roof was going to leak, and prying themselves a new one almost every year. It seemed they never had the required money as what they saved went for this and that and there was no new roof in sight.

One day Dad came in and said: "We are going to have that new roof on the house and I know how we are going to do it." His wife and family joined in the enthusiasm and asked what magic he was working. His answer was: "No magic at all. I've joined a $5 a week Christmas Club, you know we can spare that much, and in fifty weeks we will have $250.00 and we can't get it out to send it in the meantime."

Many people are joining the Christmas Club for just some such purpose, and this Club which was originally started to have money for holiday spending is furnishing a means for many to carry out projects they have had in mind for years.

The Christmas Club is now open at Peoples State Bank. There are many classes from 25c up to as much as you wish, and everybody will be welcomed, no matter what class they join.

Southfield Ends Grid Season With Victory

Southfield ended its football schedule Thanksgiving Day, defeating the crack Pontiac team. The strength of this team was shown recently when they held Bennie Friedman's Wolverines to a 28-0 score.

Pontiac kicked off to Southfield, and after two running plays failed to gain, Hall punted 60 yards to the All-Stars 15-yard line, where the Green and Gold team held for downs.

On the fourth down Pontiac kicked out of bounds on the Southfield 45-yard line. A pass, Hall to Gates, gave a first down on the 40-yard line.

The right end run by Ferroud gained eight yards and on the next play Pontiac's right end threw Schulkins for a two-yard loss. Hall then tossed the ball to Wixom, who fell across the goal for a touchdown with the game only four minutes old. The extra point was not made.

Southfield kicked to Pontiac which after three unsuccessful attempts to gain, elected to kick. The pass from center was bad and the ball rolled 15 yards back of the scrimmage-line. The kicker picked up the ball and rather than be tackled for the loss, hurried the ball at random. Robreau, fullback, who had gone down to cover the kick, caught the ball and ran for a touchdown. The whole Southfield team being taken unawares. This was less than two minutes after Southfield had scored. Robinson, Southfield's regular quarterback then went in and in the second and third quarters the two teams battled furiously.

Late in the fourth quarter the Southfield team started a smash drive which ended when Hinkie crashed over for a score with only one minute and 25 seconds to play.

Hall, Hinkle and Rife gave a great exhibition of line lunging while Ferroud, Robinson and Costello ran the ends for long gains.

Newhouse, Southfield's center, has been the only man who plays every minute in every game. The team lost only one game, tied two and won seven.

Hockey and basketball are now being practiced and will offer fans some interesting games.

CLARENCEVILLE

The last day before the Thanksgiving vacation was saddened for the boys and girls of the fourth and fifth grades, when Francis Hoffman, a pupil of the fourth grade, had the misfortune to break his arm, at Noble School.

The boys had built a little hut under the branches of the tree in the school-yard and were playing about it, when Francis caught his foot against a small tree and fell in such a way as to set the whole weight of the body upon the arm, causing a fracture.

The bazaar of the Ladies' Aid of the Clarenceville M. E. church will be postponed until Friday, December 14, on account of the death of Hazard Vanderberg.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wahl of Lansing spent the Thanksgiving week end with their mother, Mrs.

American WATCHES

give more hours of service than any other

IT DOES you little good to have a jeweler's salesman tell you, "You can have this watch two weeks from Tuesday" . . . or . . . "We'll have to get a new pinion from New York."

Such delays rarely happen with American-made watches, for the simple reason [1] that American watches, however thin the model, are more sturdily built and seldom need serious repairs . . . [2] that every American watch manufacturer has been in business so long that you can find a store that knows the watch thoroughly and has complete stocks of parts on hand wherever you may be.

All but 12 of America's jewelers, for instance, are ELGIN dealers. So with the other leading makes . . . and wherever you find yourself, you can also find, within a few minutes' walk, a store that can have your American watch back in your hands, in perfect working order, within 48 hours at most. In this store, we have established a 24-hour service for repairs . . . on standard American-made watches.

Let us show you a display of American watches that will convince you of the American watch's leadership in smart style as well as in accuracy and day-in-day-out service.

A white or green gold-filled case. Luminous dial and hands.

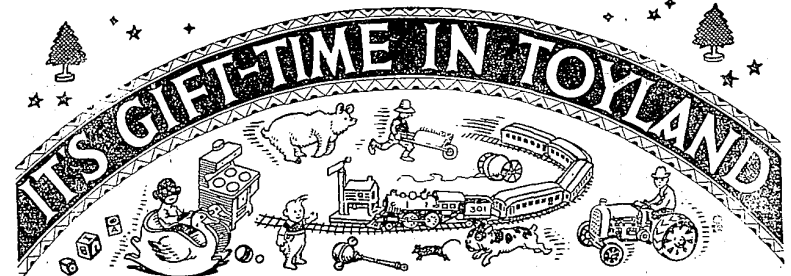

A 15-jewel movement in gold-filled case.
