CREATIVE LIVING

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1993

Natural, strange forms shown in area

he Sybaris Gallery opened the doors to its new location recently; and ilke anyone setting into a new residence, arranging furniture was a big part of the move.

The gallery's first exhibit in its new spot, 202 E. Thing allery's first exhibit in its new spot, 202 E. Thing allery's first exhibit in its new spot, 202 E. Thing allery's first exhibit in its new spot, 202 E. Thing allery's first exhibit in its new spot, 202 E. Thing allery's first exhibit in its new spot, 202 E. Thing allery's first exhibit in its new spot, 202 E. Thing allery's first in seven the spot spot in the show are sculpture by Howard Werner. Also in the show are sculpture by Worner and jewelry by Julie Anne finds in the surfaces.

In Many of Werner's furniture pieces seem to be natural pieces an Indian drum or shield. Uther works are made or palm or eucalyptus.

The Sybaris has introduced a new feature: one person and small group shows of work of talented jewelers from around the country. Mihailisin is the first artist to be so exhibited at the gallery. Her broaches, necklaces and carrings are made of molten glass and preclous metals. She puts a new polish on jewelry, by casting the glass to fit the metal instead of vice versa. The materials blend together smoothly, but each keeps its distinctive beauty.

Veiled references

Veiled references
Norma Minkowitz's crocheted sculptural forms hold an air of mystery. The fiber, papier-mache and mixed media pieces are on display through Oct. 23 at The Wetsman Collection, 132 N. Woodward in Birmingham (call 645-6212).
The mystery lies in the shadows that play in the works. The netting's effect is to blur the shapes within. Is that a funnel or a shadow? The paint on that fiber wasn't seen at first glance; is that a heart? Some convey a sense of energy, as the holes around them.

seem to buzz or vibrate as the viewer moves around them.

Parts of the body and geometric shapes are featured. Forms and ligures may seem to rise or sink into boxes. A work called "Bag Lady" consists of a head with a bag over it.

Another puzzle to the pieces has to do with the idea that something is being covered and confined, but also exposed. The material could be a translucent skin or a meshed cage. Crocheting suggests a delicate quality, but the pieces could be steel mesh to put under an armor.

Vibrant works

A new art gallery in the Lulu antique store, 405

N. Main in Hoyal Oak, made a bright debut with an exhibit of paintings by Detroit artist Stephen Ligosky.

Large paintings and smaller watercolors are displayed in almost neon hues, gold squares, handprints and strong, dynamic lines. Some of the pieces feature a human figure that seems to be directly under the canvas. Paintings of mountain have a dreamlike quality, with laddors or lightning as accents. A work called "Burning Obsession" presents a collage of mony and selender flames.

Lulu is owned and operated by Royal Oak artist and antique dealer Lulu Cameron. The Ligosky show continues to Oct. 16. Call 542-6464.

Sleck shapes

Contemporary figurative sculptures by Len Tes-ta present frozen performances to Oct. 11 at Ob-jects of Art, in the Sugar Tree Plaza at 6243 Orc-hard Lake Road in West Bloomfield (call 539-3332).

The sleek pieces seem to perform like acrobats or dancers, held in graceful poses. Made of glassroinforced resin with bronze, sliver and black lacquer finishes, the sensuous shapes may be small enough for a table or large enough to be lighter.

Mary Klemic is editor of the Oakland County Creative Living section. You may call her at 901-2569. Her fax number is 644-1314.

Our Town highlights state art

ty of media by emerging and established artists, many of them from this area. Admission is free to the exhibit. Related events include a luncheon, a tour and a children's workshop.

BY MARY KLEMIC STAFF WRITER

Visiting the Our Town Art Exhibi-tion and Sale is taking a special trip. Viewing the art, you can travel around the world as you see scenes from other countries as well as famil-iar settings. And you can travel into several galleries at once, sampling a variety of media, moods, styles and sizes by emerging and established artists from all over Michigan. Another Our Town journey awaits, with the event taking place 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday-Sunday, Oct. 21-24, at The Community House, 380 S. Bates in Blrmingham. Admission is free. For more information, call Leslie Drolet at 644-5832.

This year's event, the eighth annual show, will feature 328 pieces by 199 artists. The communities they come from include Beverly Hills, Bingham Farms, Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, Bloomfield Township, Farmington, Farmington, Farmington, Farmington, Hills, Lake Orion, Lathrup Village, Orchard Lake, Rochester, Richester Hills, Southfield, Troy, Welled Lake, West Bloomfield, Canton, Livonia, Plymouth, Redford and Westland.

"Every year we have had an increasing number of artists that have come to us and the art gets better everyed."

XXVII': Hel-en Frankenthaler's works, exhib-ited at the Robert Kidd Gallery in Birmingham, are celebrations of color and imagina-tion. The renowned artist personally selected the pieces for the display at the gallery. The exhibit continues to ry year," said Libby Dickinson, chairwoman of the steering committee.

All of the art work is for sale, ranging in price from $50 to $22,000. Proceeds from sales and special events will benefit The Community House. Franklin Bank is sponsoring this year's show.

Allen Rubiner of the Rubiner Gal-lery of West Bloomfield, one of the oldest art galleries in the Détroit area, is juror this year. He reviewed 1,250 alldes of work submitted by artists.

See TOWN, BE

Area names honored

BY MARY KLEMIC STAFF WRITER

BY MARY KLEMIC
STATE WATTER
Oakland County is well represented in the 1993 Governors' Arts Awards.
Among the recipients are Birmingham resident Marshall Fredericks, Louis Redstone and Jacobson's Stores Inc. They and six other individuals or organizations will be honored at the ninth annual Governors' Arts Awards Thursday, Oct. 28, at the Detroit Institute of Arts. A reception, dinner and music will be featured along with the awards coremony.
"I'm thrilled," said Fredericks, who will receive the International Achievement Award. "It's a wonderful honor... I appreciate it very much."
"I was as surprised, I can't tellyou," and Civic Leader Award recipient Redstone, founder and chairman of Redstone, Architects Inc. of Southfield. "To receive an award for something you like to do is really cream on the calke.
"What I did was really without the slightest expectation of (getting) anything (Inc. W. W.).
Burningham store, on Maple between Southfield Road and Woodward, Iresents artistic surroundings for the public, including a wall sculpture by Glen Michaels of Towards the seat the results artistic surroundings for the public, including a wall sculpture by Glen Michaels of Towards the results artist as well as a seat the results artist as well as a seat the artist of the public, including a wall sculpture by Glen Michaels of Towards and seat and seat the artist as a seat and seat a s

Birmingham store, on Mapie between Southfield Road and Woodward, presents artistic surroundings for the public, including a wall sculpture by Glen Michaels of Troy near the spiral staircase to the second floor.

"We're certainly excited about it (the award)," said Janice Hayes, Jacobson public relations director. "It's a great hone for us.

"We've been very much involved in the arts in the various communities in which we do business in Michigan. In many of our stores we are very much aware of architectural touches and artistic pieces."

Pieces by Fredericks are in several sites in Birmingham, among them "Freedom of the Human Spirit" in Shain Park and "Siberian Ram" at the Baldwin Public Library.

His sculpture in other communities

Shain Park and "Siberian Ram" at the Baldwin Public Library.
His sculpture in other communities include "Spirit of Detroit" in front of the City County Building, several works at the Cranbrook Educational Community in Bloomfield Hills, "Boy and Beer" at Northand Shopping Center in Southfield, "Gazelle" in the Southfield Civic Center in Fourthfield, "Gazelle" in the Southfield Civic Center in Fourthand Shopping Center in Fourthand Shopping Constitution of Southfield, "Sammington, "Saints and "Angel in the Hand of God" in Criterion Hospital in Rochester Hills. The Marshall Fredericks Sculpture Gallory is at Saginaw Valley State University, "(Art) has been my whole life, 70 years," the artist said.

Redstone, 90, is an artist and an

Exhibit has colorful expression

By MARY KLEMIC STAPP WRITER

BY MARY KLEMIC

An exhibition by Helen Frankenthaler is bound to be a celebration.

So the atmosphere is joyous at the Robert Kidd Gallery, 107 Townsend in Birmingham, with a display of monetypes by the renowned artist, 1982-91. The show continues through Oct. 23.

A monetype is an original image made by pressing paper to a flat, smooth surface on which shapes have been inked or painted. Frankenthaler personally selected the pieces for the Kidd showing.
Frankenthaler, now 65, makes liquid imagery as the adds handpainted areas to the works, intensifies color and forms texture. Her

Monotype XIX': Colors in Frankenthaler's art may shine boldly or shimmer vigorous works have a sense of spontaneity. If a breeze could be dressed in color, it would look like a Frankenthaler piece.

Larger art works resemble a Southwest desert, with colors that seem to burn and vague shapes that suggest buttes and plateaus.

Frankenthaler's yellows may be sunburst bright, her reds vibrant. Softer colors shimmer as if they are caressing silver. Even when white

See EXHIBIT, 4E

Artbeat features various happenings in the suburban arts world. Send news leads to: Cre-ative Living, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 805 E. Maple, Birmingham 48009, or fax them by calling 644-1314.

M PRINTFEST PARTICIPANT

PRINTFEST PARTICIPANT
Stewart & Stewart of Bloomfield Hills is among 20 print dealers from around the country taking part in Printfest '93 Friday-Sunday, Oct. 8-10, in Milwaukee. Twenty three artists will be represented, including Michigan residents John Glick, C. Dennis Gusstells, Jim Nawara, Lucille Procter Nawara, Mel Rosas, Norman Stewart and Paul Stewart. For more information, call Stewart & Stewart at 628-5248 or the Milwaukee Art Museum at 414-224-3200.

SPECIAL POTTERY
Paul Jansann. Course of the Bellington.

Paul Janssens, owner of the Faienceries de

Art Beat

Quimper, will visit Jacobson's Birmingham store on Maple this Friday. Handpainted Quimper pottery has a special pastoral charm. Janasens' schedule includes casual discussion with indi-vidual collectors 3-5 p.m.

Brothers Geoffrey and Tobias Wolff, two of America's finest contemporary authors, will ap-pear 7:30 pm. Thurnday, Oct. 14, at The Com-munity House, 380 S. Bates in Birmingham. The appearance is part of Baldwin Public Library's "Writers Live at the Library." Borders Book Shop is co-sponsoring the program with the Birmingham library. For more information, call Baldwin's adult reading department at 647-1700.

WHILE WEEKEND

MINWIS AGUEL PRESSING CEPATRIENT AT 47-1703.

Well-aged wine and cutting edge art are the focus of a weeken of a pacial events benefitting Detroit's Center for Creative Studies. The Detroit International Wine Auction will take place 6 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 18, at the Fairlane Club in Dearborn. Tickets are $17.8. A Wine Makers Diners is acheduled 7 p.m. Thuraday, Oct. 14, at Opus One, 565 E. Larned in Detroit, sponsored by Retirement Funding nof Bingham Farms. Tickets are $50. A Teste of Wine and Art, combining a celebration of the achievements of CCS-students with a Bordeaux tasting, will take place 6 p.m. Friday, Oct. 15, at CCS, 201 E. Kirby in Detroit. Tickets are $35. For more information, or to buy tickets, call CCS at 872-3118, Ext. 282.