The Birmingham Musicale begins its 68th season 1 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 14, at The Community House, 380 S. Bates in Birmington

Patricla Mills is chairman of the day. The program is dedicated to United Nations Day. Guesta may attend for a nominal contribution. For more information, call 952-1823.

Pianist Andrea Moon will open the program with Bach's "Tocca-ta in D major," followed by "Etude" by Chopin and Prokof-fiev's "Sonata No. 2 in D minor, Op. 14." Jan Phillips, lyric colora-tura soprano, will perform songs by Handel, Richard Strauss, Offenbach and Bellini. David Wilson will be the accompaniet. Concluding the program will be asting trie, featuring Gall Alken, violin, Susan Nye, collo, and Fontaine Laing, paino. The trie will perform "Trie 1, Opus 1, No. 1" by Beethoveth. perform "Trio 1, Opus 1, No. 1 by Beethoven. Moon received degrees from Temple University College of Mu-sic-Philadelphia and Oakland University, where she studied with Flavio Varani. She has also studied with Bess Bonnier, local jazz pianist.

Moon teaches at Center for Creative Studies-Institute of Music, at OU and privately. She is an accompanist for ensembles and band groups both classical and jazz. Moon is substitute organist for the Detroit Red Wings at Joe Louis Arena.

Phillips is currently stuyding with Frances Brockington. She sings with the Michigan Opera Chorus. Her most recent ap-pearancs were in "La Boheme' and "Aida."

ane string trio is in its fourth year of performing together. Alk-en, Nye and Laing are graduates of the University of Michigan Music School and coached with Monachem Pressler at Indiana University. The string trio is in its fourth
