SOAP WORLD

Improvements made on 'Another World' BY CANDACE HAVENS

It was a year ago when the NBC soap "Santa Barbara" was taken off the air, and it was rumored that "Another World" would soon follow. NBC and Proctor & Gamble were quick to defend "AW" and its position in the NBC duality. in the NBC daytime lineup, Executives at both NBC and P&G said the runtors were unfounded and said at tailors were unionaded and they would do everything in their power to make "AW" succeed. While "AW" is still a cellar-dweller in the ratings, it is no longer because the quality of the show.

(dain) of the snow, In fact, "AW" is arguably one of the best soaps on daytime television, Viewers would be hard-pressed to find more powerful scenes than those when the task."

have by Linda Dano (Felicia). Dano's realistic portrayal of Felicia's troubles with atcoholism was positive-ly heart-wrenching. It is no wonder Dano won an Emmy for her perfor-mance.

But Dano is only one of the many actors who make up this ensemble cast. There is the wonderful Charles Keating, who portrays the always manipulative and sometimes evil Carl. Victoria Wyndam (Rachel) has finally the break with the Cory empire and children), and she has done wonders with it.

The list of talented cast members goes on, but it doesn't end there. The story lines have improved dramatically this past year. The characters have more depth and are much more interesting to watch than in the past, Of course no show is perfect, and "AW" does have a tendency to draw out the stories too long. There are several actors who are terribly under-used, but this happens with such a large cast. "AW" doesn't always seem to be away of in successful to be aware of its strength. Terri Guarnieri recently joined "AW" as the executive producer, Guarnieri has an extensive background in accounting, and it will be interesting to see if she scales down the show to make it more profitable or brings a new creative edge to the program.
