Around and about the Oakland County art scene...

A visit to Designics in West Bloomfield (call (810) 932-2299) will show that the summer season isn't providing all of the best and light these days.

The shop at 6239 Orchard Lake Road in the Sugar Tree shopping center, just north of Maple, is featuring an exhibit of Birmingham artist Richard Kozlow's Ec-under series through August. The works seem to give off their own warm, bright light.

PERSPECTIVES

The stark white of buildings and sand, as well as the vibrant colors of the clothing worn by faceless people, suggest a bright, warm climate. One night scene has a hint of coolness in the dark sky and water.

Designics presents a variety of artistic items for the home, from plates and coasters to statues and wall pieces. Tables and chairs are like large works of art. Plates and vases feature a colorful mosaic pattern. Glass works seem to capture the rainbow.

Colorful concrete Garden planters at Tiffany Florist, 784 S. Woodward in Birmingham (call 646-0333), are attractive empty. They are works of art in stone, in a variety of sizes and shapes.

Among the forms are troughs, urns and hollow pedestals. Some look antique, with such images as the apostles or dancing angels. Others are adorned with fruit or flowers. Colors include terracotta, ivory and green.

Daylilies to have their day

The Southern Michigan Hemerocallis Society is sponsoring a day featuring the daylily Saturday, July 16, at the Congregational Church of Birmingham.

The church is at 1000 Cranbrook Road, at the corner of Woodward in Bloomfield Hills.

For more information, call 452-3113, 626-8433 or 394-0070. A daylily show will take place 2-5 p.m. Admission is free. Entries to be considered for judging should be brought in 8-10:30 a.m.

A daylily plant sale, in-garden workshops and a daylily craft sale will take place 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The raffle of a handcrafted garden glider bench will be ongoing all day, with the drawing at 4 p.m.

You don't have to be present to win. Raffle tickets at $2 will be available in advance or at the door.

Help kids enjoy art at home

The Paint Creek Center for the Arts presents a one session "Art at Home" workshop for parents 6:30-8:30 p.m. Thursday, July 21. Learn how to create a supportive home environment for children to work with art. For more information, call the PCCA at (810) 651-4110.

DIA sets volunteer training

Gallery service volunteers are needed to greet and assist visitors in the museum galleries at the Detroit Institute of Arts. No special qualifications or background are required. For more information, call 833-0247 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays.
