Haunts from page 1B

Jim and Bruce — have allocated 7,000 square feet of space for the haunt that is basically stored in-haunt that is basically stored intact there all years

"We have 2d different rooms of horror," said Jeff White. "If you don't run through, you could be in there 12 to 15 minutes."
While there are many who absolutely reliab the horrendous habitats, there may be just as many who prefer to avoid them.
Some of that group are vern associated with the dire domains.
Cindy Richards of the Novi Jaycese requires the help of some fearless younger veterans to journey through the haunted barn her organization sponsors.

ney through the naturate down ne-organization sponsors.

"I think people are nuts," said Richarda. "I don't like haunted things, Last year, about two days before the thing ended, I finally went through, and I had to hav up 8-year-old nince and nephew hold my hand because I didn't went to me.

hold my hand because I didn't want to ro."

It is, however, all in good fun, and for some very good causes.

The YMCA in Westland has traditionally recruited kids from the surrounding neighborhood to build the haunted house on the Ya property. Some, now in their teens and 20s, have been belping with the project for for more than 10 years.

"We've had a wealth of kind this year, and they've been just wooderful," said Sharon Arthur. This is the sirth year abe and her husband, Fred, are supervising the project. The proceeds are for Y projecta—and the YMCA has been interceted in family values and helping families way before it was popular." Arthur said. "Way before it was popular." Arthur said. "Way before it was politically correct." Part of the proceeds from Familiation." Haunted Winery are donated to the Farmington Historical Commission.

ington's Haunted Winery are donated to the Farmington Hilstorical Commission.

All of the proceeds from the Haunted Theatre in downtown Wayne will be used to restore the historic theater.

This is the first year that Bordine's Farm on Ford Road in Cantime in the Haunted Green House (Grun Haus) which will be out in the woods on the property. Hay rides for families and adults only will also be of fered. This year they are working with Eastern Michigan University ty, Schoolcraft College and the high schools. Each bood eahigh schools. Each bood eahigh schools. Each of each high schools. Each of each profit to make it bigs
menough profit to make it bigs
menough profit to make it bigs
ment year. "said Mindy LaGrow.

"This is like phase one of what we want to do We really want to expand so that maybe next year we can get even more organizations in."

Jayrees put a lot of hauntrespective communities. The Plymouth/Canton group plans to donate some of the proceeds to the Plymouth Fife and Drum
Cerps.

Parade from page 1B

the Arts, the American Harp Association, the World Harp Congress, the Tuesday Musicale of Detroit, and the American String Teachers Association.

"She brings a wealth of musical background and arts management theoretic to the position," said Linda Alvarado, Plymouth Symphony Society president, "Her fresh viewpoint and enthusiasm will be invaluable in developing educational programs for the Proceeds from the Redford Jay-cees Friendly Monster Day for children on Saturday, Oct. 22 will be donated to Juvenile Diabetes, according to club president Jane Vallet. Some of the other proceeds will go toward a Christmas shop-ping tour for under-privileged children in the Redford Public Schools.

Schools.

Farmington is making an all-day festival of activities on Saturday, Oct. 23. John Virley and Association are planning the Halloween fest for the Farmington Downtown Development Authority. There will be free pony rides, costume contexts and trick-ortreating at downtown stores.

The Detroit Zoo's "Zoo Boo" is a great alternative to traditional Hallowern activities with chitchen, armed with a zoo-loaned flashlight, travelling a trail lined with animal and farily tale characters to eight treat stations along the way. A non-eary magic show also awaints the participants.

The Garden City Jaycees spon-sor a free Halloween party for Garden City children with lots of activities and snacks.

The Hallelujah Harvest Festival is an event sponsored by The Garden City Christian Center for the last 12 years.

"The whole idea is an alterna-tive to Halloween," said Pastor Don Mullett of the Oct. 31 activi-

Kids can come dressed up as along as the costumes have noth-ing to do with ghoats, witched devils etc. Games, activities and lots of candy will be the order of the day. There will also be a Christian puppet show and they will close in prayer.

ulticlose in prayer.

United Memorial Gardena in Plymouth Township offers free hayrides and bonfires to church and Sunday school groups. There are many hiblical structures at the gardens, including a full-scale replica of the Old Testament Tabernacle which will be lit up for the hay rides.

In costume: Farmington Community Band members (standing left to right) Tom Machowski, Howard Goldman, and Jan Roller and (sitting left to right) Mike Wiese, Susanne Authement, and Tammy King, get into the spirit of Halloween.

Spooktacular from page 1B

see Boogah & Hoogah's Goofy Goblin Revue beginning at 6 p.m. Boogah and Hoogah, ev-erybody's favorite goblina, tell stories, recite funny poems, and aing a few tunes about the holi-day. Following the show, the stores will treat children in cos-tume to treats 6:30-8:30 p.m.

At aren malls
At the Livonia Mall, (Seven Mile and Middlebelt) kids ages 1-12 can enter a Costume Contest on Saturday, Oct. 29 beginning at 11 am. Registration is required by calling the mall management office (810), 476-1160. First, second and third place prizes will be awarded by age groups 1-13; 4-6; 7-9; 10-12. All participants will receive treats from the Merchants Association and World Book Encyclopedia.

On Menday, Oct. 31, Livenia Mail welcomes trick or treaters 67-30 pm.

At Wonderland Mail (Plymouth and Middlebelt) kids will enjoy performances of "Hallowen Mischief," Monday, Oct. 31 at 11 a.m. 4 and 7 pm. in center court. Livenia police will be passing out DARE coloring books 4:30-8:30 pm. there will be photosessions in front of a Hallowen backdrop.

At Wostland Mail (Wayne and Warren Roads) there is no trick or treating, but kids can stop by the Customer Service Booth anytime Hallowen weekend to receive a bag of goodless from the merchant's association. A magic show is set for Sunday, Oct. 30, times to be

Downtown happenings
Celebrate Halloween Saturday, Oct. 29 in downtown
Fearmington at the Halloween Feat. The fun begins 10 am. to 2 p.m. with trick or treating at downtown stores beginning at the big tent. Children must be accompanied by an adult. Other events starting at 10 am. include a free petting zoo and pony rides, free moonwalk, and a psychic tent, near the main tent.

Beginning at noon there will Beginning at noon there will be a strolling musician — Neil-Woodward, Cloggers and Western Line Decers. A costume contest for children up to age 12 will be at 2 p.m. followed by a pumpkin pie eating contest at 4 p.m. and a pet costume contest.

SRO cast plays their cards right with 'The Gin Game'

You will laugh. You will smile knowingly. And before SRO's "The Gin Game" an old folks home. As Weller says, "Everyone ends up here if you live long enough." Our two characters have just arrived. Weller invites before SRO's

The Gin Game is over, you may wipe away a tears
But mostly, you will be touched by the superth well before MEZBEI performances of Kathleen Monticello and Ralph Rosati es Fonais Dorsey and Weller Marin, respectively.

Both create energetic, true-to-life characters. Their dialogue and stage business has a natural and unrehearsed quality.

The setting is the back porch of vindictive edge to her character.

REVIEW

As they continue to play — and she continues to win, we learn about the dreary life around the home. And more about two seniors desperately attempting to hang on to their pride and dignity. The gin game becomes a metaphor for their lives. He's obsession to their pride and dignity out to taunt him. There is one final game — so of a short-out at high non. The game boile over into a magnificent fight, with in your-face, four-letter put-downs.

Mama Mia

Banquet Facilities Arallebia

E The gin game becomes a metaphor for their lives. He's obsessive about winning and maintaining control. She is upset over his temper and along that is the format blue. and plays just to taunt him.

The ending is somehow sad, yet uplifting. They really need each other. Weller and Fonsia have alienated friends and relatives to the point where neither has visitors. Flawed though they are, one hopes thry will continue to search out the goodness in each other as they struggle to make their lives work.

Contributing to this fine pro-

DINNER FOR 2

only $11.99

duction are the setting and technicals — together with Nancy Harrower's taut direction and fine job of balancing dramatic and comedic aspects of "The Gin Game".

Game."

Bob Weibel of Westland is a freelance writer, who has spent more than 25 years in community theater as a director, designer and

WEDNESDAY

The Gin Game"

THEATERS SRO Productions, at the City of Southfield's historic part "The Burgh" on the north-east corner of Civic Center Drive and Berg Road.

P Cuerrane vision 8 p.m. Fridaya: and Saturdaye, 2 p.m. Sundaya: through Oct. 23.

► Trosures $7 general admission, $6 senior citizens and children. Call (810) 354-9362.

SUNDAY

We're Open 'Till Christmas

ON THE TEE RESTAURANT

810-476-5193

Book Your Holiday Parties NOW!

FRIDAY

5-9 p.m. All-You-Can-Eat

A STATE OF THE PARTY OF THE PAR

401 ART

