Fatal Accident.

Elmer Treadway Killed While Loading Hay.

Elmer Treadway, 27 years old and a well known young man of Farmington, while loading a load of hay at the home of his grandfather, Steve Treadway, was struck on the head by the pole breaking and was almost instantly killed Monday afternoon.

This is a hard blow to his grandfather as he was the mainstay on the farm, where he had labored faithfully all his life.

Mr. Treadway has the sympathy of the entire community in the loss of his grandson.

The funeral was held from the home Wednesday morning, conducted by Rev. Brent Harding of Northville.

Village Election

The village election of Farmington was held last Monday and everything passed off very quietly with the following results:

President—T. H. McGee
Clerk—Cloyse Steele
Treasurer—Wm. H. Walters
Assessor—John Thayer
Trustees for two years—Bernard Meyers, Frank Walters, Louis Schroeder.

The electric light franchise was carried, only six voting against it. They probably prefer darkness to light.

Freak Concert on April Fool's Night.

The Epworth League are to give a "Freak" concert in Farmington town hall on the evening of Saturday, April 1st.

This promises to be one of the best entertainments of the season. Among the unusual attractions is to be the new Zobo band of nearly 30 pieces, with full orchestral accompaniment. This is something new and thrilling.

We are also to witness the surprising feat of the famous Columbian Giant, lifting immense iron dumb-bells, totally in weight 4500 pounds.

A new vaudeville production "The Singing Scarecrow," also the famous playette, "Farmington's Political Incubator," taken from the "Hatch It" scene, will be given that evening. The wonderful "Human Piano" will also be on exhibition and furnish inspiring music. There are also to be several good character sketches, drills choruses and soles. Watch next week's paper for full program. Secure and reserve the date—Saturday evening, April 1st.

"The World's Peace"

Miss Kate L. Sprague of Winona, Minn., who is the guest of Miss O'Brien, West Franklin street, gave a superb talk before the Tuesday club this week on "The World's Peace." She talked for more than an hour and showed a grasp of the subject that would make real statesmen and diplomats take notice. She clearly suggested that the dream of the dreamer was, in a large sense, the vision of the prophet, and that our world was surely headed toward arbitration, the civilized successor of the sword. Miss Sprague has a quiet but charming manner, and those who had the privilege and pleasure of hearing her were richly served.—Jackson Citizen.

Miss Sprague is well known here, being the daughter of the late Lorenzo and Laura Sprague, and sister of Mrs. C. W. Wilber of this place.

GOOD NEWS

Harry L. Weaver Pronounced Cured of Tuberculosis

The following letter was received by us from H. L. Weaver, and we are glad to note that he has got the best of the white plague:

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., 2-3-11.
To the Editor and My Friends:

Knowing that you are all awaiting the outcome of my sojourn in this western sanatorium, I am taking this means of informing you all of my good fortune. Something like two weeks ago, Drs. John E. White, medical director of Nordrach Ranch and M. W. A. Sanatoriums, and Geo. W. Rea, resident physician at Nordrach, pronounced me an apparent cure from tuberculosis.

You will no doubt stop and ponder at this, knowing, as you all do, that it is only five months since I left Farmington, and feeling as many wilt, that five months is far too short a time in which to overcome tuberculosis.

But could you visit this sanatorium and lead for a short time the outdoor life of perfect rest, which we are given here, in this most invigorating climate, with its days and weeks of perfect sunshine, together with the good food, nursing and constant attention of the best tuberculosis specialists, you would more readily understand and appreciate an early diagnosis of tuberculosis. As it is, of course, only the very early cases that can meet with such quick results, and such cases, I am sorry to state, are not often met with here. As owing either to selfishness or ignorance of attending physicians the patient is treated at home, unaware of true conditions, until second or third stage is reached, which often proves fatal.

And here is where I wish to publicly thank my home physician Dr. J. A. Miller, for to quote Dr. White, "Had it not been for the unusual ability of your physician in giving you such an early diagnosis, as a slight involvement of apex of lungs is the most difficult to diagnose, and his extreme honesty in the case, by telling you at once true cause of illness and advising the western altitudes, the results could easily have been far different."

This would be even more clear to you could you hear the story told over and over again, by patient after patient in the second and last stages of tuberculosis. "My physician did not tell me I was tuberculous," he said "I was only run down, and he would pull me out in a good shape in a few weeks. Then when I got where I am now, he sent me here, perhaps to die."

Not only do I credit the doctors and sanatorium for my speedy recovery, but the dear friends and neighbors, who through their many acts of thoughtfulness and kindness, lightened my burden of home leaving.

Feeling that you will all rejoice with me, hoping my experience may be of some benefit to a fellow sufferer, and with the lightest heart in the world, and fondest memories of my little home town and its people, I remain

Sincerely yours
HARRY L. WEAVER.

Gone Beyond

Harry Rockwell, aged 41, a former resident of Farmington, passed away at his home in Detroit Monday morning.
