

NY Labor Woes Halt Lindsay Visit

NEW YORK — The largest city in the United States continues to be beleaguered by labor problems. With the teachers and police striking, there is a possibility of a strike by garbage collectors and firemen. A large force of police who cannot officially strike since they are public employees, have developed "blue flu." Firemen have given notice that they will do emergency work only, fighting fires.

"Were the city to reopen negotiations, the inevitable result would be a chain reaction among the three unions, and the result is complete anarchy of the city's labor relations," Mayor John Lindsay said.

It was these and other labor problems that forced cancellation of Lindsay's scheduled visits to Michigan Friday on behalf of local congressmen.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — Jack Pezz's daughter, Randy, has been told she will have to get rid of her 10-week old lion that has been living with her and 20 other women in a dormitory at Radcliffe College.

The college rule is that no animals may be kept in student housing. Randy has agreed to take her lion home and give it her father, who brought three home from Africa last summer which he later gave to a Florida zoo.

WASHINGTON — Senator Robert P. Griffin, who engineered the defeat of Abe Fortas for Supreme Court Chief Justice, has been told that he must pay back $25,000 in postage fees to the Post Office Department.

The two-year dispute over whether mail sent by Griffin could be classified as being used for his campaign or to inform his constituents (which would be free) came to a head Oct. 19 when Griffin was told he must pay or the matter might be referred to the Justice Department.

"When you stick your neck out and buck the Johnson Administration, I guess you have to expect this sort of thing," he said.

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has signed a new gun bill that bans the mail-order sale of rifles, shotguns and ammunitions. He claims that the law is too weak to control crime effectively, however, since it does not include a registration of weapons and licensing of owners.

PHILADELPHIA — The latest Gallup Survey shows a drop in the number of Americans who plan to vote Nov. 5. The poll which showed Nixon with 38 per cent of the vote, Humphrey with 31 per cent, Wallace with 10 per cent, and 20 per cent undecided.

The latest Gallup Poll showed Nixon with 43 per cent of the vote, Humphrey with 31 per cent, Wallace with 20 per cent, and six per cent undecided.

CHIPPewa VALLEY — Some 2,500 Macomb County pupils are getting an unexpected vacation as all but six of the district's 107 teachers walked out after a dispute with the school board over an agency shop provision in a proposed LIVONIA — Police arrested a gang of six men and three women allegedly responsible for 111 burglaries within the last year, mainly in the Livonia, Farmington and Southfield areas. Officers found some $12,000 in merchandise stashed in two residences occupied by the gang.

LIVONIA — The Livonia PTA Council has launched a four-year anti-drug abuse by juveniles. Local PTA's at individual schools plan follow-up programs.

The campaign consists of talks by experts in the drug field to the groups explaining problems connected to the abuse.

FARMINGTON — Basement excavators uncovered 400-million-year-old marine fossils in a township subdivision this week.

Rocco and Philip Tangelas discovered the fossils in splits from a large limestone boulder embedded in the excavation.

An area art association, the Palette Guild, will hold its fourth annual juried art exhibition and sale at the Dearborn Youth Center, Michigan Avenue and Greenfield, opening Sunday at noon and continuing to 10 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 10.

The guild is a 120-member artists' organization celebrating its 15th birthday. The members include professionals, semi-professionals, and art teachers. Some members have degrees in art, and many have won awards and honors for their work which runs the gamut from realistic to modern, from oil to silk screenings.

Pam Kochensperger of 15500 Foch, Livonia, is publicity chairman of the group, its members include:

The Chippewa Valley Education Association is demanding that all teachers join the association or pay dues. Gordon Peckham, superintendent of the district, said "It wouldn't be fair to force membership on those who came to work here without knowing it would be required."

LOS ANGELES — Lawyers of Sirhan Sirhan failed to bar the prosecution from using material seized from his home.

In making his ruling, Judge Walker passed only on the issue of whether the material was lawfully obtained, not on whether it will be admitted into evidence if the prosecution attempts to do so.

MEXICO CITY — There are rumors in Mexico City that some members of the United States Olympic Team may have been getting money from equipment manufacturers to use certain products in the games.

If the rumors are true, medals could be taken away from athletes who have received illegal payments. Douglas Roby, who is president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, said, "I am going to tell the entire Olympic movement that, if this is going on, it should be found out and made public."

The 1968-69 series opens at 8 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 22, when Professor Kevin Herbert describes "The Graeco-Roman Temples at Baalbek" in the museum lecture hall. Professor Herbert will illustrate with slides the Temple of Jupiter and Bacchus and other structures in the complex of ornate buildings 50 miles east of Beirut, Lebanon.

Kevin Herbert is professor of classics at Washington University in St. Louis, Mo., and curator of the Wulfing Collection of Ancient Coins at the university.

A PERCUSSION ORCHESTRA? That's what world-famed Dick Shory will unveil to Observerland music lovers on Wednesday, Nov. 27 in the Plymouth High auditorium. This picture shows the Shory percussion group, one of the most unusual in the nation and how it will be set up on the stage. It is a benefit affair with the profits going into the Plymouth High band fund to help pay the expenses to the annual band camp next fall.

News Round Up

OBSERVER AMUSEMENTS

THE FEMININE LEAD — Kathy Nelson has been cast as Mary in the upcoming Farmington Players production of "Mary, Mary." Performances of the Jean Kerr comedy are scheduled for Nov. 1, 2, 8, 9, 10, 15 and 16 in the Players Barn on 12 Mile just west of Orchard Lake Road.

Comedy To Open Season

The Plymouth Theater Guild will open its 1968-1969 season with the comedy "Arsene And Old Lace." The play, published by Samuel French and directed by Jake Rumpf will be presented in the Plymouth High School auditorium on Nov. 14, 15 and 16.

The story concerns two eccentric old ladies who live with a mentally ill nephew. After a hapless gentleman succumbs in their home, they proceed to make other attempts to help similar souls "rest easier."

How they manage provides the fun and promise of an evening's entertainment.

Visit A Real Haunted House!

The real old-time haunted house has been re-created in Farmington.

While the structure doesn't have the fame of a Poe or even Henry James' creation, it's designed to provide one and all with a good old-fashioned scare and good old-fashioned protection.

The project is the result of more than a month's work by the Farmington Jaycees and the Jaycees Auxiliary.

The group has converted an old farm house at 36125 Grand River, between Drake and Halstead Rds., into a special Halloween treat.

Hours for the house are Saturday, Oct. 26 from 4 to 10 p.m. and Oct. 27 through 31 from 4 to 8 p.m. Admission price is 25 cents per person.

One of the goblins, who has moved into the house, told us that special features include: the ball room, the spider room, giant fly room, the room of horrors and the fiery staircase.

A companion merely hooted when we asked what other treats were planned for the visitors.

"Guess you will have to find the answer to that question yourself."

Saturday Programs Begin At Cranbrook

An Inkster couple will perform in costume some Indian dances and explain the customs connected with them when the new Saturday morning programs for youngsters in grades 4 through 7 get under way Nov. 2 at Cranbrook Institute of Science, Bloomfield Hills.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lanford who have been studying American Indian lore and attending powwows for more than 12 years. During the time they have collected much authentic material which they use in programs for school and adult groups.

The Lanfords will perform on Nov. 16, the third in the series of four programs, each set for 9 a.m., and each repeated at 10:30 a.m., and all directed by Martha Schaefer, of the Institute staff.

The first program (Nov. 2) is called "Digging up the Past". Fossils are to be shown to illustrate changes in the earth's history, and the movie "The Dinosaur: A World Before Man", and "Prehistoric Animals of the Tar Pits" will be shown.

The Nov. 9 topic is "Animals that Eat Insects". This program includes study of birds, mammals and some insects coupled with the movies "Insect Eatery" (beetles, mole and shrew) and "Birds that Eat Insects" (swallows and night hawks).

The concluding program (Nov. 23) features "Tools of the Astronomer" during which examples of modern "tools" will be presented together with the films "Instruments of Astronomy" and "Planets around our Sun" which visualizes changes in planets and dynamics of motion in the solar system.

Student members of the Institute are admitted free while a charge of 50 cents is made to non-members. The Institute requested that an adult accompany each group of students.

Pat Paulsen Brings His Politics Here

Those who support Pat Paulsen as the real third candidate to rally around their man Wednesday night, Oct. 30 in the Olympia Stadium.

The frozen-face comedy star of the Smothers Brothers television show will carry his zany presidential campaign into the area for a one-night stand.

With his offbeat approach to politics, Paulsen has poked holes in the legitimate candidates' campaigns.

His platform changes from TV show to TV show and his supporters concede there is a possibility he may not prevail in the November election.

This is a pity, for Paulsen the political pundit has a fresher, and most of the time, funnier slant on the world's problems than the other parties' men.

Paulsen became the top dog when he zoomed to the top on the Smothers Show. When he delivered his first dead-pan, confused, frantic TV "editorial," the response was overwhelming. Fans wrote in over 10,000 letters the first week.

Sharing the Olympia bill with Paulsen will be the "Edition," a popular musical group, offering tuncful counterpoint to Paulsen's pretentious gravity.

Tickets to the show are $2.50 for balcony seats, $1.50 for balcony seats.

Speaker Discusses America

Dr. Kenneth McFarland, considered one of the country's foremost speakers on "Americanism," will discuss "Guarding America Tonight" at 8 p.m., Nov. 4 in the Detroit Masonic Temple.

The speech is one of a lecture series sponsored by Alexander Hamilton Insurance Company of America. Complimentary tickets may be obtained through local Alexander Hamilton offices, by phoning 474-4827 or by writing the home office in Farmington.

McFarland's messages are aimed at selling America to Americans and deal with the principles involved in preserving the ideals set forth in the first Constitutional Convention.

Bloomfield Exhibition Opens Sunday

The Bloomfield Art Association opens its fall season of exhibition Sunday, Oct. 27, 1968, with an invitational show of Michigan paintings for collectors.

Among the artists whose works will be shown are Richard Kozler, Fred Simpson, Earl Brush, and Barbara Keldan. The paintings are selected from the Art Rental and Sales Gallery of the Bloomfield Art Association, which operates on a yearly basis. It will contain works which should appeal to most area art collectors and patrons.

Under the direction of Mrs. Frederick G. Stichel, Board Liaison for the Art Rental and Sales Gallery, the show will be hung by Co-chairmen Mrs. Alex Donaldson and Mrs. William Lyman. Opening will be at 3 p.m.

The exhibition will run through Nov. 17, 1968.
