Punt, pass, kick winners

It might be baseball season, but the sport was football when the North Farmington-West Bloomfield Vikings held their recent punt, pass and kick competition.

The age-group winners were Chris Jones (8), Eric Wrenn (9), Jeff Marx (10), Ross Ryan (11), Ryan Lewis (12), Ben Lucas (13) and Anthony Silton (14).

Trophies were awarded to the top three finishers, and all participants received prizes. The Vikings plan to make the competition an annual event.

There are still openings on the NFWB freshman, JV and varsity teams. Anyone between the ages of 8 and 14 who is interested in playing football should call Lee Vincent (653-8915) or Jim Davey (681-8972).

The Vikings will play an eight-game schedule, beginning Sept. 10 against the Farmington Rockets. Home games are played at North Farmington High School.

Fury holds second place

The Farmington Fury (17-10-4) has improved its division standing by winning its last two soccer games.

The Fury moved into second place with a 5-3-3 record behind the Saginaw Kickers, who lead the division at 8-4.

Farmington beat Saginaw twice this season by the scores of 1-0 and 2-1. The Fury has one more game against Novi next week before competing in three summer tournaments.

"I am pleased with the progress we've shown," Fury coach Tom Fano said. "The league moved us up a division and, at first, we weren't too happy about it. But the guys stepped up and want to move up again next season."

"I'm happy for them because they've talked about moving up all season."

Lord top player in Observerland

By C.J. RISK
STAFF WRITER

Three teams ranked among the state's top six, four players listed in Michigan's top 11.

Another typical, average year in girls soccer for Observerland.

Perhaps the only thing missing was a state championship. Plymouth Salem made it to the Class A final, but the Rocks could not stop Birmingham Seaholm, losing 4-2. Which means it's been five years since girls soccer from this area has reigned supreme (in 1990, Livonia Stevenson was champ).

Since then, it's been Eccentric-area teams that have won every year. So perhaps we should resurrect the Observer vs. Eccentric all-star game, discontinued a decade ago?

(Editor's note: It's the state high school athletic association and its rule forbidding underclassmen from competing in such events that prevents us from sponsoring it.)

That Class A dominance could change in the very near future, considering this year's all-Observer teams. Of the 22 players selected to the first two teams, only 10 are seniors. And of the remaining 12, there are three freshmen and four sophomores.

Which means there's a lot of young talent developing in this area. The next few years could be even better than the past few.

Still, there were a couple of losses from this season that must be acknowledged. First and foremost is the retirement of Salem's Ken Johnson, the school's only girls coach in its history. Johnson will coach one last season of boys soccer, then it's off to Florida.

Also gone is the last person to coach an Observer-area girls soccer team to a state title: Mary Kay Hussey. Personal problems caused Hussey to surrender her coaching position at Stevenson in the early stages of this season.

The Spartans recovered, however, to regain their status as one of the state's premier teams under the guidance of Jim Kimble. A former player at Stevenson and Central Michigan University, Kimble had served as Hussey's assistant last year.

His performance as a coaching replacement — after an 0-2 start, the Spartans went 14-2-1 under Kimble — earned him recognition as the Observer's coach of the year.

Here are the 11 first-team selections to the all-Observer squad.

ALL-OBSERVER SOCCER

All Lord, North Farmington, senior Soccer is a team sport, sure . . . and Lord was the kind of player that defied that claim. No other single player meant more to their team than Lord did to North.

A member of the Michigan High School Athletic Association's dream team, Lord netted 34 goals this season (a North school record) and assisted on seven others. Her performance earned Lord the most valuable player award in the Western Lakes Activities Association for the second straight year. Lord finished her four-year varsity career with 104 goals and 24 assists.

Farmington talent among area's best

When Bob O'Brien took over a struggling Livonia Ladywood track program in 1993, he knew a quick start out of the gate was out of the question.

The Blazers had to concentrate on taking baby steps. "It was frustrating, at first," said O'Brien, 27. "For the most part, I had been a part of winning teams and knowing we wouldn't win at first was tough. But I knew I was young enough to weather the storm."

"The biggest job is trying to get a winning attitude and keeping the kids around."

O'Brien is a 1986 graduate of Redford Catholic Central, where he was a regional high jump champion for coach Tony Magni. Following CC, O'Brien earned a teaching degree from Franciscan University in Steubenville, Ohio.

O'Brien's first team at Ladywood had only 45 members. This season, the Blazers had a turnout of about 80, and it showed as they finished 4-2 in dual meets and won their first Catholic League championship in 11 years. Ladywood finished fifth at the regional and sent six girls in seven events to the state meet.

For his efforts, O'Brien, a history and government teacher at Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard, has been named Observerland Coach of the Year.
