

Bank closes Birmingham branch

Fidelity Bank has closed its branch office at Maple east of Woodward and transferred its operation to the bank's headquarters, a few blocks west of Adams and Maple.

"It's a consolidation," said Fidelity president Michael Valle.

He said the Birmingham branch office was small and did not offer the services, such as safe deposit boxes and drive-in windows, which are available at the bank's main offices. Lack of parking also was a problem, said Valle.

"It was a very small office," said Valle.

Only three employees worked there. Not many customers used the branch office, Valle said.

"Our customer response (to the move) has been very positive," Valle said.

The bank has not received any complaints about the move, he said.

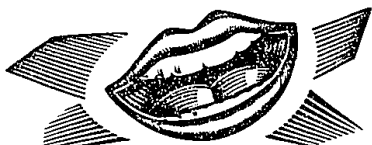

Fidelity Bank has 10 branches in Oakland County. It recently completed a 6,500-square-foot expansion of its bank headquarters, doubling the original size of the building.

The bank has about $125 million in assets.

'Concert on the Lawn'

For Botsford residents: Botsford Continuing Health Center resident Violet Davidson (right) shared an evening of ice cream and music with her daughter Gloria Melkonian and son-in-law Arthur Melkonian (right), during the recent "Concert on the Lawn" provided by the Farmington Community Band. Botsford Community Health Center is a 179-bed nursing facility in Farmington Hills.
