Accident victim kept giving, teaching even after retirement

Mary Margaret Retelle, a re-tired teacher and Farmington Hills resident, died Feb. 1 as a result of head injuries suffered in an automobile on Jan. 23. She was 75. Mrs. Retelle, a Farmington Hills resident, had been on her way to one of the many educa-tional presentations she made to children and senior citizens on behalf of the Detroit Zoo, where she was a docent. "She was always involved in educating children about animals," said her daughter Mary Beth Retelle.

Mrs. Retelle had retired from the Royal Oak schools in 1986, where she had been an elementary teacher.

The accident took place at 12:15 p.m. Jan. 23 when she lost control of her 1994 Toyata while driving west on Nine Mile east of Gill in snows, icy conditions.

The car spun around and struck a tree. The major part of the impact was on the driver's door, which caused the head injury.
