Walter Burt, the telephone manager, has purchased an Excelsior motorcycle with which he expects to burn up a few highways when he goes out on "trouble shooting" trips. It will likely go faster than the old white nag and if it proves as faithful will be an improvement, but as when it balks and Walter has to lead it home through the sand a few times it may be different. However, horses are too slow for this hurry-up age.

LAY JUDGE QUITE USELESS

One of Them, Arguing for Abolishment of Office, Tells of His Only Concurrent Opinion.

In many of the interior counties of Pennsylvania there are lay judges who assist the law judges in disposing of miscellaneous cases. Several years ago there was introduced into the legislature a bill to abolish the office of lay judge. Judge _____, himself a lay judge, appeared before the senate judiciary committee at Harrisburg, which was considering the matter.

His argument was this: "There is before your august body a bill to abolish the office of lay judge. I am in favor of its passage. For ten years I have been a lay judge—myself, sitting day by day with a judge learned in the law. But he does all the work and I have no show. In all these years I have only once been asked for a concurrent opinion and that was last week, when, after listening to two lawyers argue an equity case for three days, my colleague turned to me and said, 'Judge, don't these god-darned long-winded lawyers give you a pain?'—Metropolitan.

GENTLE HINT

First Actor—Yes, we had a rough time in the Gulch.

Second Actor—Really? Did the audience "hand you a lemon?"

First Actor—No, they handed us an egg.

Second Actor—What did that mean?

First Actor—They wanted us to
"beat it."

MEASURING RAINDROPS.

The simplest method yet devised to ascertain the size of raindrops is as follows: The drops are allowed to fall into a layer of dry flour one inch in depth, which is exposed to the rain for a few seconds only.
The flour is then set aside until the pallets of dough formed by the drops have hardened sufficiently to be picked out. Experiments with measured drops of water falling into the flour have proved that the pallets differ little in size from the drops that produce them. The largest drops yet tested by a prominent scientist somewhat exceeded one-fifth of an inch in diameter, but most of them were much smaller.
The size varies with the kind of clouds from which the rain falls.

HIS REASONS.

"So you didn't ask papa if you could marry me! Now, why not?"
"Because, my love, he looked so forbidding."

ARITHMETICALLY SPEAKING.

Johnny had just finished scratching a sum in the surface of the new sidewalk when his father arrived on the scene.

"What is this I see in the cement?" demanded the irate parent.
"Those, father," replied the youth.
"are concrete figures."

WOMAN'S PECULIAR CHARM.

Mr. Richards says of his daughter, Mrs. Craigie (John Oliver Hobbes), that "one of her chief characteristics was the immediate and striking effect she had upon strangers. Few people who had met her even once; ever forgot her and she had a marvelous power of attracting confidences; men who had only known her some hours would confide in her not only their love affairs, but their religious difficulties, the whole history of their lives, with a touching assurance of her ready sympathy. It was, I suppose, to this fact that she owed her extraordinary knowledge of human nature. Men told her the truth about themselves, a confidence rarely bestowed upon any woman."
