Stretchin' out: Sarah Bottoms of Bloomfield Hills stretches her muscles prior to the annual "Run for the Blind" race held Sept. 21 in downtown Birmingham. The race attracted nearly 700 runners on a "gorgeous" race morning. The 10k winner was Donald Malen of Birmingham, who successfully defended his title. Royal Oak resident Patricia Bagley was the 10k women's champion. Race co-coordinator Tom Carroll said the race is always a "fun project" for the Lions Club. "This race has always been one of our pet projects - it's a fun project for us. It was a very successful race," said Carroll, a Lions Club past-president. "On behalf of the Lions Club, we want to thank all the race sponsors. We look forward to an ever better event next year."
