Shabbat from page B9

Committee did a wonderful job on addreasing common issues and bringing them together to accomplish much more than any one congregation could do on its own," said Gordon, an attorney. "But we weren't accomplishing one of the fundamental goola.

"But we weren't accomplishing one of the fundamental goals. We were not attracting the marginally involved." "In the second second second second end the second second second second end the second second second second such as a second second second second such as a second second second second second like the perfect vehicle ito meet one of our goals." What began 20 months ago as a suggestion quickly snowhalled into a n'ul-blown program, drawing support from rubbis and leaders in the Jewish com-munity.

Munity, Monthly meetings have become brainstorming sessions for the 70 committee volunteers representing supporting congre-gations and affiliated organizaitions. "Everyone is bringing their excitement and ideas to our meetings," said Debi Weinstein of West Bloomfield, who is co-charring the community wide "Rekindle the Candle" program "with Grass.
