Cruising makes everyone first class

BY BETTY SWARTZ
SPECIAL WRITER

Whip off the winter coats and snow boots and don your sun-bathing attire - picture yourself relaxing and inhaling the balmy breezes of the sea while on a cruise. February, National Cruise Vacation month, is here, enlightening the public about the pleasures of cruising.

Gone are the "olden" days of sailing where there was a class distinction on every ocean liner - first, second and sometimes third class categories. A definite barrier existed onboard between the very rich and the not-so-rich. Today, cruising is for everyone and everyone is treated in a first-class fashion. It doesn't matter if you have chosen the least expensive cabin or the most expensive suite on a ship - all will be serviced and pampered like the rich and famous.

Cruise ships today offer the ultimate vacation that at one time may have been only a dream. This year there are eight new ships scheduled to debut - these, plus the ones that entered the market last year and the ones on the drawing boards, all claiming to have the latest in that and that, are being built to accommodate the 92 percent of North Americans who have never cruised.

The list of new innovations goes on and on, to the point that ships of today are beyond one's imagination. Experience spa therapies, fitness programs, computer rooms and the latest onboard technology; passengers can book shore excursions, order room service and even have a hand in the casino action right from their cabin. One new ship coming out will have a golf club with a putting green and golf simulator and a visual-reality arcade. We can only be awed by what the year 2000 may hold.

The bygone era of cruising, where formal attire was the appropriate dress for every dinner and being "properly dressed" for daytime activities was the norm, has been replaced by the casual and comfortable attire of today. Yes, formal nights are still on the agenda (two formal nights on a seven-day cruise), but also available is the alternative dining option - a casual restaurant that one can choose instead of "dressing up." Daytime wear is whatever pleases you (no bathing suits in the dining room) - just like a land resort vacation.

Recall seeing "nannies," pictured on the ocean liners of yesterday? Today, the children are busily engaged in special programs directed by qualified youth counselors on just about every ship. Many include computer hi-tech activities oriented toward children. Evening programs for children are usually available - if not, baby-sitting services are generally available for a nominal fee.

The cruise industry is aware of the wants and needs of today's passengers; hence, all of the numerous enhancements in today's world of cruising are geared to the lifestyle of the '90s. Don't let the opportunity of cruising pass you by - get on board and "see what's out at sea!"

HONEYMOON CHOICE

A recent survey by Modern Bride magazine has named the Carnival Cruise Lines the best cruise value for honeymooners. The publication's first-ever "Travel Agent Honeymoon Survey" asked more than 3,000 honeymoon specialists their opinions regarding cruise lines, hotels, resorts, vacation destinations and various other travel-related categories. The result was featured in the December 1997/January 1998 issue of Modern Bride.

BLOCKBUSTER ART SHOWS

Two major art shows will open in Toronto this June, both on loan from British institutions, the Victoria and Albert Museum and the Courtauld Institute of Art. Each will offer timed admissions for entry.

More than 70 Impressionists and Post-Impressionists masterpieces will be on view at the Art Gallery of Ontario, June 10 to Sept. 21 from the Courtauld. The exhibit will feature works by Monet, Degas, Cezanne, van Gogh, Gauguin, Seurat and others.

The Royal Ontario Museum will present "A Grand Design: The Art of the Victoria and Albert Museum," a sweeping exhibition of paintings, sculpture, design, fashion and decorative arts, June 21 to Sept. 13. The exhibit features such items as a DaVinci notebook, a Dickens' manuscript and furniture by Chippendale and Macintosh.

For more information on Toronto, call Toronto Toronto at (800)363-1900.
