

Madonna sweeps Siena, drops twinbill at Adrian

The Madonna University baseball team got a taste of its own medicine Monday.

After sweeping a doubleheader from Siena Heights over the weekend, the Crusaders traveled to Adrian Monday only to get swept by the Saints in a pair of tight games, 4-3 and 12-11.

In the opener, Siena jumped out to a 3-0 lead off Bob Mason. The big hit was a two-run homer by Siena's John Hill.

Madonna (3-4) settled down and lasted 6½ innings, scattering nine hits while walking five and fanning five.

The Crusaders, now 15-17 overall and 7-5 in the WHAC, collected seven hits off Siena's Rob Redmon (2-2). Bob Hamp had two of the hits, including a run-scoring double.

In the nightcap, the Saints led 8-1 after three innings and held on for the win as the Crusaders rally fell short.

Madonna's bats came alive, as the Crusaders mounted a 16-hit attack. Leading the way was third baseman Daryl Roche who was 4-for-4, including his 18th double of the season, to go along with two RBI.

Jeff Warholick added three hits and two RBI, while Todd Miller, Kevin Foley (two RBI) and Aaron Shrewsbury chipped in with two hits apiece.

The Saints hit three home runs, including one from Eric Justice (Redford Catholic Control), who was 4-for-4 with three RBI. James O'Connor (2-2), the first of three Madonna hurlers took the loss. He was roughed up by the Saints who scored eight times in his 2½ innings of work.

Tye Golden, a sophomore formerly of Westland John Glenn, improved to 2-3 with the win in relief.

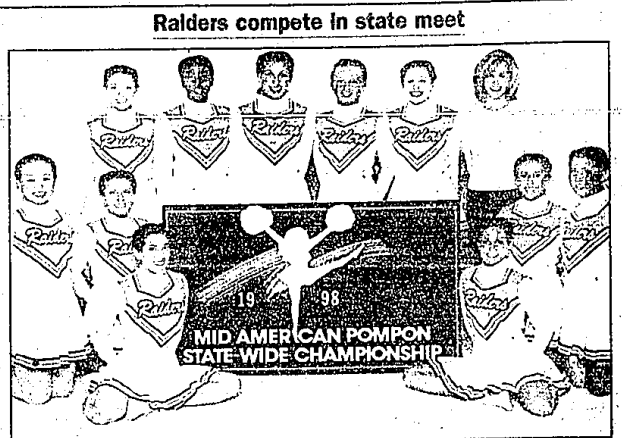

It was a different story Saturday as Madonna swept a doubleheader from the Saints 13-1 and 5-1. The two losses ended a five-game Siena winning streak.

In the opener, Shrewsbury went 3-for-4 with four RBI, including a double and a home run. Foley and Roche also had their bats in high gear as each collected three hits and drove in a pair of runs.

Mark Serra (1-4) picked up his first win of the season going the distance, allowing six hits while striking out four and walking only one batter. Ryan Gaines accounted for the only run off Serra with his third homer of the week.

Sophomore Mitch Jabczynski (4-1) pitched a three-hitter, striking out six with two walks.

The bottom of the lineup provided some punch as Pete Quinn and DeLano Veletti each belted a homer.

Salem volleyball coaches Gilles, Suffety step down

For nine years, the trio of Allie Suffety, Candi Gilles and Brian Gilles controlled the fate of Plymouth Salem volleyball.

That era has now, officially, ended. The question is: Can their successors match their success?

Those three guided a program from the depths, a team that was struggling just to reach respectability, to championship status. The Rocks dominated the Western Lakes Activities Association over the past six years, collecting three league titles while going undefeated in conference regular-season matches four times. In the last six years, Salem posted a 63-3 record in WLAA regular-season matches.

Leaving after nine such seasons of coaching should be done with a load of fanfare. But that hasn't happened.

In fact, Brian Gilles admitted he and his wife — Candi coached Salem's junior varsity — might have stayed another year had their disillusionment with the administration not been so prevalent.

Despite their successes, Suffety, who shared the varsity head coaching position with Brian, and the Gilles thought they never got the support their program warranted.

One thing all three coaches wanted to be known: This was not a case of their retiring now that the cupboard is bare. Rebuilding is not necessary.

"The program is there," said Brian Gilles. "It's in place. A lot of great kids are coming back."

Their retirement was prompted by several issues. First, there was the league's move last season from a best-of-five-games format to three. Such a switch, without advance consultation, enraged the Salem coaches. Fewer games meant less playing time for many of the Rocks.

The Michigan High School Athletic Association measures the volleyball season in playing dates, not number of matches. A Saturday tournament in which a team plays 10 matches counts the same as a best-of-three match between two teams.

The Salem coaches didn't mind the new format so much, but wanted to combine WLAA matches into double-duals (or even triple), to preserve playing dates so teams that wished could play more tournaments.

While the boys basketball team practiced on the main floor of Salem's gymnasium, the volleyball team was relegated to the section behind the bleachers — a tiled floor that often needed to be mopped before it could be used.

"You know, they're redoing the rest of the gym (next year)," said Gilles. "But not the upper level. Is that right?"

"We took this program from where it was to where it is today," said Suffety. "I have no regrets. It's just sad that it has to end in such frustration."
