

GOOD LIVER REMEDY FREE

When you suffer from any form of indigestion it is always well to take something for the liver, as usually the trouble lies there. If you are bilious, have a bloated feeling after eating, if you feel, if your skin is yellowish, if you may be sure it is liver trouble.

What you need is something to stir up the liver, to arouse the gastric juices so that they will aid in the digestion of your food. A very good remedy for this—and one highly recommended by those who have used it—is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which you can obtain in any drug store at fifty cents or one dollar a bottle. But if you have any doubt about its merits, and would prefer to try it first, send your address to Dr. Caldwell and he will promptly send you a free sample bottle.

Thousands of people first learned of this remarkable cure for stomach and liver and bowel troubles through a free sample. Mrs. Frank Lilly of Phoenix, Ill., sent for one and cured her and she is open in saying that she will never take pills or strong cathartics again, as Syrup Pepsin acts so mildly. Mrs. W. L. Bryant, the Postmaster at Sardis, Tenn., says he will never be without it again. No sick person can afford to ignore a remedy so highly endorsed as this. It is good for all the family from infancy to old age, because it is mild, free from gripping and yet promptly effective. Furthermore, results are absolutely guaranteed or money will be refunded.

For the free sample address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 402 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

WHAT TRUE EDUCATION IS

Rev. Charles M. Sheldon's idea of the Right Development of the Human Mind.

What is an education? It is the right education, in the right direction, all the time, of the whole being, for the purpose of giving one as much life as possible for himself, and to share with others.

This means that the whole person must be taken into account. Education means a rounded development of an intellect or ability. It means symmetrical and many-sided growth. The reason why there are so many interesting people in the world is because so many people are content with a one-sided development. They are willing to be musicians and nothing but musicians. They are willing to be newspaper men and nothing but newspaper men. They are willing to be lawyers and nothing but lawyers; teachers and nothing but teachers; ministers and nothing but ministers. And so their range of thinking, of conversation, and of action is limited. True education takes into account the whole being, with many different possibilities—a life which has in it the elements of surprise and eagerness to learn something which can be known about a very great world in order to sympathize with and enter into the thought, so far as possible, of all sorts and conditions of men.—Rev. Charles M. Sheldon in the Christian Herald.

One on the Locusts

"You know," said Silas, as he drove Mr. Commuter to the station, "them there seventeen-year locusts is curious beasts. Oh, I've watched them, I know their ways. They comes up out of the ground and they makes for the nearest tree, and they climbs up the trunk till they gets to the leaves. Leaves is what they're after!"

"That's right I seen a man standin' in the road, shootin' 'em up at a telegraph pole and a telegraph' to beat his hand."

"Wot yer laughin' at, friend?" says I.

"See all them dom seventeen-year-old locusts, a-scuttlin' an' a-scurryin' up the telegraph pole?" says he.

"Yes," says I, "what of it?"

"I'm just a-thinkin', he says, a-mot' doublet' up laughin', 'what an April fool I'll be for them when they gets to the top!'"

Here's to laughter!

The sunshine of the soul, the happiness of the heart, the heaven of youth, the privilege of purity, the echo of innocence, the treasure of the humble, the wealth of the poor, the bead on the cup of gladness, the divine detection, the banishes blues and mangies melancholy, for it's the foe of we, the destroyer of depression, the enemy of grief; it is why kings envy peasants, plutocrats the poor, the giddy the sane; it is the shen on the silver of sadness, the Hittle on the waters of delight, the glint on the gold of gladness. Without it, humor would be dumb, wit would wither, duple would disappear and smiles would shrivel, for it's the glow of a clean conscience, the voice of a pure soul, the birth cry of mirth, the swan song of sadness. Laugh!

Mrs. John Grace spent Sunday with her brother, Jo Graham, Hugh McDermott, made a business trip to Detroit Thursday.

Will Pangborn spent Sunday with Brownie Cook.

Mrs. John Grace was a Detroit visitor Monday.

MAN OF FALLEN FORTUNES

He Was Stirred to New Ambition by the Act of a Cigar Salesman.

"Cigars of the brand I used to smoke," said the man of fallen fortunes, "are like those of many others, sold at various prices, and of my favorite brand there was one particular size and shape that especially pleased my fancy and I always smoked. Stogie I usually smoke now, but occasionally, when I feel that I can spare the money, I go in and buy a few of those fine cigars."

"For one of the occasional fond smokers I was in this morning and, looking down into the case, I named my brand and reaching into the case the salesman brought out a box. But these were not of my size and shape. He indicated that I wanted, and the salesman brought out that box—cigars at six for a dollar, of which I now took three. I noted casually the card on the box which the salesman had first brought out, and that card confess gave me a little thrill of pleasure and then, what was better, a stir of ambition."

"The cigars in that other box were three for a dollar, and had not the salesman brought them out to me confidently as if they were that sort of a customer? He certainly had, and I must look it. And if I looked it, why should I not be it? Why should I continue to be a stogie man? Why should I not retrieve my fallen fortunes, and far surpass them—come to be not merely a six but a three for a dollar man?"

STOVE BUYER WARNINGS

ASK for the book on "The Only Safe Way to Buy Stoves and Ranges." As a matter of simple justice to the public, we, as agents of the largest makers of stoves and ranges in the world, give here, and in this special book, the facts about mail-order stove buying. We wish it understood that we are not fighting any Mail-Order Stove Concern. We are our own boss, and the buyer takes great chances of getting his money's worth.

Consider carefully the questions involved in the purchase of a stove or range, which must either give years of day-to-day service and satisfaction or prove an absolutely worthless investment.

Caution

No one is to see the above trademark always on famous Mail-Order Stoves and Ranges. Never buy any stove or range unless you see this trademark on the stove or range. If you do not see this trademark, you are buying a cheap, inferior stove or range. It is not worth your money.

Risks of Mail-Order Stove Buying

- 1—Quality! No matter how low the price, however low, can justify the purchase of a stove or range that lacks the vital elements of quality. Experience, skill, science and plain old-fashioned honesty in material and workmanship must all be present in the stove or range before it has the quality that will stand the test of years.
- 2—Guarantee! Your guarantee of quality, when you buy a Good Stove or Range, is based on forty years of stove building and the satisfaction of thousands of Garlands in over 4,000 homes.
- 3—Bargains! Every stove or range sold by mail is (see paper) the "greatest bargain ever offered."
- 4—Delays! In the time of mail order, you get a stove or range on credit, the delivery is delayed, the stove or range is not what you ordered, and you wait for it.
- 5—Knock-Down Stoves! No mail-order stove is built to last. It is built to be knocked down. It is built to be replaced. It is built to be replaced. It is built to be replaced.
- 6—"Money Back!" No mail-order stove is built to last. It is built to be knocked down. It is built to be replaced. It is built to be replaced.
