bases and scored 29 runs. He fanned only seven times in 88 plate appearances.

Fisher was a consensus all-state tackle in football for the Class A champion Hawks and will continue his career in that sport at Eastern Michigan University.

"Mike was primarily a power hitter but had very few strikeouts for someone that big," coach John Herrington said. "He improved his defense as a senior and was a dream to coach. He's somebody you could always count on."

Jeff Tzros, first base, N. Farmington: Along with Taylor, Tzros was one half of a dynamic pitching, hitting combination that made the Raiders an area power for the last three years. When one pitched, the other played first base.

Tzros, who signed with Michigan and was drafted in the 26th round by the Kansas City Royals, distinguished himself as a hitter again, batting .413 with 25 RBI.

He tied for the team lead with 31 hits, which included five doubles and four home runs. His slugging percentage was .640, and he fanned just nine times in 75 chances.

As a pitcher, Tzros was 5-4 with one save and a 2.98 ERA. He had 58 strikeouts and 33 walks in 49 1/3 innings. He made only three errors and had a fielding percentage of .950.

"Jeff is an outstanding ballplayer and hard worker," Horwitz said. "He came up as a sophomore and had three great years at North Farmington. I think he has a real good future. I think he's going to improve over his year and make a name for himself."

Dave Lusky, infielder, Redford CC: Like teammate Casey Rogowski, Lusky is a three-sport athlete, playing shortstop for the Shamrocks.

He batted .405 with 37 RBI and scored 38 runs, stealing nine bases. The 6-foot-3 junior has great range and is a Cal Ripken type at his position.

Lusky batted .422 with runners in scoring position and had 10 extra-base hits, including two homers and seven doubles.

"He worked real hard the last few weeks and improved his defense and played well in the state tournament, defensively and offensively," Satter said. "Like Rogo (Rogowski), he excels in three sports, and nowadays that's a tough

All-Area slugger: North Farmington senior Jeff Tzros delivers the game-winning hit against Farmington Harrison in the Western Lakes championship game.

The three-year varsity veteran is one of only two Thurston players to make one of Majeski's varsity teams as a freshman. He also carries a 3.9 grade point average.

"He's just an excellent hitter, outstanding and very consistent," Majeski said. "He comes to practice to improve every day and is just an outstanding individual."

Casey Rogowski, outfielder, CC: What he did for an encore to the first two sports seasons of the 1997-98 school year was more than CC coach John Satter could have asked.

The hulking, left-handed hitting first baseman and outfielder batted .419 with a team-high 43 RBI, seven doubles and four homers, including one in the upper deck at Tiger Stadium in the Catholic League championship game.

He scored 42 runs, second on the team to leadoff hitter Bob Malek. He struck out only nine times in 105 at bats and also drew 27 walks, third most on the team. He made only one error in 128 defensive chances for a .992 fielding average.

Rogowski did all that without a rest after the wrestling season in which he went undefeated and was the Division I state heavyweight champion. In the fall, he was instrumental as a linebacker in leading CC to the Class AA state football championship.

"He has a great combination of average and power," Satter said. "He hit .440 with guys in scoring position, ran well and can play first base or outfield equally well."

Bob Malek, outfielder, Redford CC: Malek had numbers most players only dream about. So it was only fitting he was named to the state's Dream Team as a junior center fielder.

Battling more than .600 most of the year in the leadoff spot, he finished at .587 with a school-record 81 hits, 55 runs scored, 33 walks and an on-base percentage of .734.

He had 11 doubles, four triples and three home runs to finish with a team-high .858 slugging percentage.

From the outfield, he made 16 assists with one error. As a pitcher, he was 5-1 with a 2.89 ERA in 26-plus innings.

"He had the best offensive season of anyone I've had," Satter said. "He was the ideal leadoff guy with excellent knowledge of the strike zone. He's a patient hitter and will take a walk as well as a single."

Pitching fails Adray team in Metro Baseball defeat

Livonia Adray baseball coach John Moraitis thinks he's figured out his team after an 11-6 loss on Friday to the Warren Reds, who remained undefeated in 11 Adray Metro Baseball Association games.

"(When) I get good pitching, I get no hitting," Moraitis said. "(When) I get good hitting, I get no pitching."

The loss at Livonia's Ford Field dropped Adray to 3-8-1 overall.

Adray wasted a 5-2 lead, allowing the Reds to rally with four runs in the fifth inning and five in the sixth. The Reds collected nine hits off four Adray pitchers, including a three-run home run to highlight the six-run explosion in the sixth.

R.J. Janus pitched the first 5 1/3 innings before getting relief help from Matt Seabring, Todd Wilkins and Enrique Corda. R.J. Casey (Garden City/UD) and Craig Foddrill had two hits each for Adray. R.J.

Casey and Eric Harding had RBI doubles while Chuck Yessian drove in a run with a single and Dan Hyatt brought in another with a walk in a five-run fourth for Adray. Corda had an RBI single in the sixth.

On Wednesday, Downriver scored seven first-inning runs en route to a 10-0 win over Adray.

The first seven batters scored as Downriver Adray had four singles, a home run and three walks during the first inning off Adray losing pitcher Hyatt.

Kevin Uzarski, a former member of Livonia Adray now playing for Downriver Adray, hit a two-run homer to highlight the first-inning uprising. Uzarski is too old to play for Livonia Adray, a 20-under team.

Luke Bonner pitched a two-hitter with eight strikeouts.
