Be patient when teaching children to bowl

Karon
Hagan is a member of the All-Star
Bowlerettes League at Cloverlanes in Livonia on Monday
mights.
Karen's
Karen Hagan include two 300 games and two 800 series.
She is a member of the Monroe
Women's Bowling Hall of Fame and was their initial inducte for superior performance in 1985.
She has made it to the Tam
USA national finals four times and is a two-time state amaleur and is a two-time state amateur champion. She is currently run-ning the youth bowling program in Monroe and has a lot of experience in coaching youngsters.

Karen offers this advice to parents of children who are taking an interest in bowling.

"When they are very little and just starting out, we try to just give them the basics and see that they are able to use good form in the delivery.

"We tell them that when you build a hour, it doesn't matter how much woodwork you have on it unless you have a strong foundation. Otherwise the house will fall down.

"We teach them how to pick up the ball correctly, how to stand at the foul line straight, which way the toes are pointing when at the four line straight, which way the toes are pointing when you let go of the ball, how the armswing goes (up alongside your head as opposed to crossing your face, which we call the 'cle-your late, which we can use or plant."

We follow through like the Statue of Liberty. We show them where to stand and where to roll the ball (not throw the ball), we teach them about the arrows and how the lanes are set up so they know what they are aiming at.

Mainly it's a matter of teaching them the basics. It's like teaching muscle memory. When you walk, you don't think 'left, right', you just do it.

'It takes a while to teach muscle memory. Patience is required. It takes repetition.

'We used the four step delivery when they are big enough to hold the ball with one hand.

'We use the bumpers when they are really little. When they can keep the ball on the lane we move them up to the next level, where they stand at the foul line and roll the ball.

'Then we teach the four step approach.

'As for equipment, when they start in bumpers it is usually with a six-pound ball. You can tell if the ball is too light because they have very little centrel.

'You don't want to go to have either. If they can hold the ball in one hand by their side for the parents to remember the kids are just learning.

'He is important have to remember the kids are just learning the head in the calling seal when they good and not to yell at them when they do good and not to yell at them when they do not. If the child is really interested and has that desire, it is worthwhile the ball in one hand by their side for heavy either. If they can hold the ball in one hand by their side for heavy either. If they can hold the ball in one hand by their side for heavy either. The is is part of what the coaches are doing, working with the kids. The fit is also important, In anything they do. Art has beginner level it is all about support.

"The parents have to remember the kids are just learning. When they took their first stops they were not perfect, and they will not be very good at first.

"It is up to the parents to praise them when they do good and not to yell at them when they do mot. If the child is really interested and has that desire, it is good to get them a cach and bring them along that way.

"With all the college scholarships out there, it is worthwhile for kids to be able to compete later on at the higher level and earn scholarship money.

"Just about any child can participate in bowling. It a game for life. They can play when they grow older and still enjoy it.
