

Trout fishermen get early start on Huron River

OUTDOOR INSIGHTS
BILL PARKER

Proud Lake Recreation Area— from the signs just below Moss Lake to the signs 100 yards below the Wixom Road Bridge—is open for the special season.

The regular trout season doesn't open until Saturday, April 24, but these who can't wait the additional three weeks can get in on some spring training on the Trout season is open and not just for April fools.

Trout anglers school-up early each year on the Huron River to participate in a special fly-rod, catch-and-release trout season. A two-mile section of the river in the Huron. This special season runs April 1 to the regular season opener.

Approximately 2,500 eight- to 12-inch trout are planted in the river each year prior to the start of the special season.

Normal regulations apply when the regular season opens with the exception of a three-fly possession limit.

The program began in the mid 1970s and has been a joint venture of the Livonia-based Michigan Fly Fishing Club and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources ever since.

The biggest smallmouth

The recent warm weather has most air-water anglers along the state spoiling-up new line and cleaning out tackle boxes in anticipation of the summer fishing season. If the weather hasn't been enough of a boost the following tale is sure to get your adrenaline flowing.

Livonia's Mike Canfield, his wife Deborah, and their six-year-old daughter Maggie were fishing in the Loud Dam Pond last July 5 when they decided to boast their boat and allow Maggie to take a swim along a sandy bar. After a short swim, Maggie got back into the boat and Mike caught a night crawler harness out the back of the boat.

"As soon as it hit the water he hit it," Canfield said. "He gave me a great fight."

After battling the feisty smallmouth bass for several minutes Canfield was able to bring it to his net and finally got a good look at the fish.

"I really had no thought of keeping him," Mike said. "I knew it was a big fish, but Maggie had already named him "Fred" before I even got him into the boat. We quickly measured him, took a picture and released him."

The bass was big enough to earn Canfield a Master Angler Award for catch-and-release smallmouth bass. The minimum entry is 21 inches. On top of that, Mike recently received another award from the DNR because his fish was the largest catch-and-release smallmouth in the state that was registered with the Master Angler Program during the 1998 fishing season.

"I knew he was big, but I had no idea he was an award winner," Canfield said. "I'm just glad we thought to measure it and take a picture."

"It was a good afternoon of fishing as Maggie caught her first bass and Mom got to take another picture."

Fund-raiser reminder

Don't forget about the spring wild turkey workshop coming up Saturday, April 10, at the Northland Sportsman's Club in Gaylord, especially if you hunt in the northwestern section of the state.

The Traverse Bay Chapter of the Michigan Wild Turkey Hunters Association distributed over 100 tons of shelled corn in northwestern Michigan this winter to help the birds in that area get through the harsh winter. On top of the hundreds of hours provided by local volunteers, the corn cost the chapter some $14,500.

This turkey workshop is the chapter's main fund-raiser. Proceeds will be used specifically for the wild turkey supplemental winter feeding program.

The workshop will feature presentations by Al Stewart, the DNR's new upland gamebird specialist, as well as local wildlife biologists and veteran turkey hunters. There will also be door prizes, raffles, a kids calling contest and more.

For tickets and more information or to make a donation to the chapter call Rick Riley at (616) 649-2179.

(Anglers and hunters are urged to report your success. Questions and comments are also encouraged. Send information to: Outdoor, 805 E. Maple, Birmingham, MI 48009. Fax information to (248) 644-1314, send e-mail to bparker@oe.com or call Bill Parker evenings at (248) 901-2573.)
