ngle Explanation of Facts That Had Made Young Father Green With Jealousy.

It was a wet day, and in conse-tuence the guests had to stay indoors. The young couple started to talk of their baby. My baby had just cut his first

"My baby had just cut his lirst tooth," said the father proudly. "Indeed?" said the other, "Well, mine cut his long ago."
"Our haby," said the first, "is just beginning to talk."
"Wirs." said the second, "cannot only talk, but read."
"Knows his letters aiready, does he?" said the first, with a note of jealousy in his voice.
"Oh, yes, indeed!" said the other. "And can figure like an expert accountant."

For convenience the dry mash system is probably beat. Separate hoppers are often used for each kind of food, though the chicks must be educated to this system from the start to insure best results. A mixture is many times made of the different foods and this placed in large hoppers for use, or as is a common custom with many, the mash is fed at a regular period each day. Bran, 'middings, corn meal, ground casts or barley, affaifa meal, and meat in some form, as green put bone or commercial beef strap, are among the most common of these foods.
