WHERE CAN I FIND?

This feature is dedicated to helping readers jocate merchandise that's difficult to find. If you've seen or are looking for an item, call (288) 901-2656 and leave a message with your name and phone number. We publish readers' requests for merchandise twice. If you don't hear from us or see information, about the jtem within a few weeks, we were unable to locate it. When we find an item from another reader, rather than a store, we will call you. But, please be patient; we handle an overwhalming number of requests, each week.

They shopped.
They dined and danced.
They helped school children.
And they did it all prior to the actual madness of the holidsy shopping senson.
More than 700 people attended the 36th Annual Mistletoe Madness event, held Saturday, Nov. 20 for the first time at Nordatrom in Troy at the Sumerset Colloction.
The annual event serves the Junior League of Birmingham and the group's signature charity project, Families involved Together.

and the group's signature charity project, Families Involved Togethar.

The benefit, which weds fine dining, live music, a silent auction and dinning with shopping in an alegant stacesphere, not only is a pleasant way for local shoppers to make a dact in their holiday gift lists, but this cauthes the sames League to muke a significant contribution to Frost Elementary School.

Located in Pontine, the school is currently developing a parent resource center, and dennifer Kintworth, the league's ochair of the event, which this year rated over $100,000.

Mistletoe Madness also hulps local retailers drum up business and create an excitament in the community about their efferings, services and merchandise, said Klintworth their efferings, services for the event saident auction.

Nordstrom, which held their annual shopping night in conjunction with Mistletoe Madness, proved to be an excellent partner, added Klintworth. They (Nordstrom) were just a dalight to work with. They were very accommodating to our needs and our focus, said Klintworth. They helped us raise money and we helped them target the community.
