GOVERNMENT IMPORTS BUGS TO ERADICATE GYPSY MOTH

Steps Taken to Secure European Parasites of Destructive Pest—Rapid Spread of Insect Due to Certain Extent to Traffic Along Highways Over Which Boughs of Trees Hang.

Caterpillar and Male Adult of the Cecropia Moth. A, head; B, thorax; C, abdomen.

Uncle Sam has entered the bug business. For the past five years he has been importing little bugs to eat up big bugs, until now the little bug family has reached quite respectable proportions and is rapidly proceeding to decimate the family of the big bug. This may sound a bit strange, but it is true.

Since 1905 Uncle Sam has spent more than $5,000,000 in fighting the gypsy moth, the brown-tail moth, the cotton boll weevil and many other pests which are the bane of the American farmer and forester. Few European gypsy moths have spent so much money on their extermination as Uncle Sam. They have long inhabited Italy and France without causing serious damage, but since the arrival of the gypsy moth in the United States in 1866, he has done more damage to fruit and forest trees than his predecessors of the old world have done in centuries.

In all the 20 years of constant warfare against this ravaging insect, realizing there must be some way of combating the spread of this destructive moth, the department of agriculture studied the moth on its native beach. It was found that the European pest is held in check by certain parasites. In this country there was but 11 parasites of the moth, while in Europe there are about 52 species. To import the remainder of the parasite family to this country is the task Uncle Sam has undertaken.

Since its accidental introduction into this country in 1868, an accident caused by the escape of certain egg clusters from the school of entomology at Harvard, the gypsy moth has cost $50,000,000 in actual cash that amount having been expended in fighting the pest. This amount does not include the loss of orchard and forest trees destroyed by the insect's ravages.

The brown-tail moth, which Uncle Sam is also fighting with imported bugs, was brought to this country in 1897 in a shipment of oranges to a florist in the city of Summerville, Mass. Shortly after the arrival of the shipment it was noticed the trees and shrubs were being defoliated by an insect. His attention is directed not only to the parasite of the gypsy moth, but to the parasite of the brown-tail moth, the boll weevil, the alfalfa weevil and the cabbage butterfly.

MANY FAILURES WITH POULTRY

Over-abundance of Advice from all Sources is Assigned as Reason for Many Downfalls.

Why is it that so many persons fail in their first attempt to raise poultry? There is an abundance of advice from all sources. Almost every paper carries it, and every man you meet will give you more than you want—all free.

One reason is that, like every other kind of business, poultry raising requires experience to make it a success. No amount of theory will take the place of actual experience. Poultry requires the best of attention and lots of hard work. The profit from poultry decreases as the feed and the care is diminished. It requires a certain amount of food to keep a hen alive and active. Any additional food is turned into fat and eggs.

COW STALLS AND STANCHIONS

The above illustrates a comfortable cow stall and stall. The floor is concrete or plank. The gutter should be of concrete, but may be of wood. A stanchion of different style may be used—either home-made or of some of the patented type. A good stall will remove the unpleasantness of milking.

HOUSEWORK IS A HEAVY BURDEN

The woman who "keeps house" has enough to do when she is well, and when she is sick, tired all the time, and suffering from more to night with an aching back, housework becomes a heavy burden.

When Kidney Troubles Keep You in Misery Day and Night

"I just can't get up."

The following case is a typical one of the cases effected by Doan's Kidney Pills. Genuine testimony is the best guarantee.

Mrs. J. M. Hill, 188 W. 10 St., Waterloo, Iowa, says: "I enjoyed the best of health until the winter of 1904 when I was seized with kidney trouble. A grinding pain through my kidneys, followed by a dull, grinding ache across my loins. The whites of my eyes changed color and the eyeballs bulged. My hands puffed and my feet became so swollen I could not wear my shoes. The kidney sections caused great pain and also annoyed by their frequent passage. I got so I could not eat, lost weight and was gradually growing weaker and weaker until my father advised Doan's Kidney Pills. I obtained so much benefit from the very first that I continued and by the end of the first week the backache and headache had disappeared. I grew steadily better, and was at last completely cured. Doan's Kidney Pills saved my life when I was so sick that I did not care whether I lived or died. The doctors as well as myself had given up hope of my ever getting well. I am so grateful that I cannot recommend Doan's Kidney Pills too highly."

JUST A LITTLE TOO HASTY

Mr. Newberry Rejected What He Considered Impertinence, but the Joke Was on Him.

They were on their wedding tour, and imagined that every civility given them related to their new condition of servitude.

Having stopped at a way station, the bridegroom was approached by the station agent, who asked: "Are you going to take the next train?"

"It's none of your business," retorted the bridegroom, indignantly, as he scolded the bride up the platform, where they conducted with other over the impertinence of some of the natives.

Onward came the train, its vapor curling from afar. It was the last to the destination that day—an express. Nearer and nearer it came at full speed; then in a moment it whizzed past and was gone.

"Why in thunder didn't that train stop?" yelled the bridegroom.

"You say 'twasn't none of my business. I had to signal it that train's to stop."

PIMPLES COVERED HIS BACK

"My troubles began along in the summer in the heat and weather and took the form of small eruptions and itching and a kind of smarting pain. It took me mostly all over my back and kept getting worse until finally my back was covered with a mass of pimples which would burn and itch at night so that I could hardly stand it. This condition kept getting worse and worse until my back was a solid mass of big sores which would break open and run. My underclothing would be a clot of blood.

"I tried various remedies and salves for nearly three years and I was not getting any benefit. It seemed I was in a great misery and could not sleep on my back or lean on a chair. I was finally given a set of the Cuticura Remedies and inside of two weeks I could see and feel a good relief. I kept on using Cuticura Soap, Ointment and the Resolvent, and in about three or four months' time my back was nearly cured and I felt like a new being. Now I am in good health and no sign of any skin diseases and I am fully satisfied that Cuticura Remedies are the best ever made for skin diseases. I would not be without them." (Signed by W. Armstrong, Corbin, Kan., May 23, 1911. Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a sample of each, with 32-page book, will be mailed free on application to "Cuticura," Dept. L, Boston.)

Felt Rather Fat.

"Mamma, I had the nicest dream," said little Mary, age six, just after waking in the morning.

"What was it?" mamma asked.

"Why, I dreamt I was a young lady," she chimed.

"That felt pretty good, didn't it?" the mother remarked.

"Yes," was the reply. "But I felt rather fat."
