

St. Vincent & Sarah Fisher Center has new board

The St. Vincent and Sarah Fisher Center of Farmington Hills has added 12 members to its board of trustees.

They are Robert Amussen of Grosse Pointe; Ralph Babl Jr. of Bloomfield Hills; Sister Judy Dusellier, Daughters of Charity, of Mobile, Ala.; W. Mack Faison of Birmingham; Cynthia Harkaway of Clinton Township; Kathleen Holycross of Bloomfield Hills; Robert Klein of Bloomfield Hills; Elizabeth and John Ottaway III, of Grosse Pointe; Judy Roseman of Commerce Township; and Sister Theresa Sullivan, Daughters of Charity, of Farmington Hills.

Amussen is vice president of strategic planning and network development for Providence Hospital and Medical Centers, where he is responsible for strategic planning, marketing, advertising and government affairs.

Babl is chairman of the Archdiocese of Detroit's Advisory Board of Catholic Education and chairman of the board for Gabriel Richard High School. He is also a member of the Leadership Detroit Alumni Association, the University of California School of Business Alumni Association and the American Hospital Association.

Babl is vice chairman and chief financial officer of Comerica Inc. and Comerica Bank, responsible for corporate development and planning, controller, treasury, funds management/foreign exchange, corporate staff, corporate legal, investor relations, general services, real estate and economics. His other professional and community affiliations include director of Citicorp's Research Council of Michigan, Detroit Symphony Orchestra, Oakland University Foundation, Tecumseh Products Co. and United Way Community Services Community Leaders Council.

Dusellier, a member of the Daughters of Charity of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul, is the director of social services at Allen Memorial Home, a long-term care facility for elderly people in Mobile, Ala. She began her affiliation with the center in 1977 when she worked as a child care worker and as the director of child care until 1981. She left the center to become a member of the Daughters of Charity. Dusellier, who grew up in Port Huron, has a degree in social work from Sienna Heights College in Adrian. She is a member of the National Board of Social Workers.

Faison is an attorney and partner principal at Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone, where he specializes in products liability and torts litigation and counseling and insurance coverage disputes. He received a law degree from Harvard University. Faison is a member of several professional organizations including the American Bar Association, the state bars of Michigan and New York, and the American College of Trial Lawyers.

Grobbe is vice president of investments at PaineWebber in Troy, specializing in retirement and estate planning. His relationship with the center began at birth when he was adopted from the center. Grobbe is the co-chairman of the center's largest fund-raising event, the Garden Party, and served on the center's capital campaign cabinet to raise $4 million in 1998-1999. He is also affiliated with the Capuchin Soup Kitchen.

Harkaway is vice president, regional personal investment services manager for Old Kent Bank. She brings 25 years of sales, marketing and bank management expertise to the board. Her current positions include president of the Women's Economic Club, treasurer of the Oakland County Bar Foundation and member of the development committee of the Michigan Women's Foundation.

Holycross is president and chief executive officer of the Visiting Nurses Association of Southeast Michigan. She has more than 20 years of leadership and operations experience in health care administration. Holycross was named one of Detroit's most influential women in the March 1997 issue of Crain's Detroit Business. She is a member of several professional organizations including the American College of Healthcare Executives and serves on the Junior League of Detroit's Community Advisory Board. Klein is a legal counsel to non-profit organizations. He began his association with the St. Vincent and Sarah Fisher Center in 1996 when he served as a member of the capital campaign cabinet to raise $4 million. Klein is also trustee of William Beaumont Hospital, Marygrove College, Eton Academy, Karmanos Cancer Institute and a partner of the Cornerstone Schools.

Elizabeth Ottaway is senior portfolio manager at Munder Capital. She is a member of the board of Tau Beta Association, a women's service sorority, and a member of the Michigan Society of Certified Financial Planners. John Ottaway III is senior partner and managing director at J. Walter Thompson of Detroit. He is the great-grandson of Charles and Sarah Fisher, who underwrote the center's original facility, which was built in 1929. Ottaway has acted as class agent for the University Liggett School Alumni Fund, as well as the College of William and Mary.

Rossman is a former lobbyist for the automotive industry and the Michigan Hospital Association. She has been active in governmental affairs in Lansing, Washington, D.C., and across the country. Her involvement with the center includes serving on the planning committee for ArtShare, an annual fund-raising event, from 1993 to present, as well as serving as the chairwoman of ArtShare in 1997.

Sullivan, a member of the Daughters of Charity of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul, is the community health services manager at Providence Hospital and medical centers. She is responsible for managing the St. Vincent de Paul Health Center, coordinating the parish nurse ministry, developing community outreach and health prevention programs and increasing health access for the poor. Sullivan is also a member of St. Mary's Hospital Board of Directors in Saginaw.

The St. Vincent and Sarah Fisher Center has provided services to children and families in crisis since 1851. Today the center's programs include residential treatment for severely abused and traumatized children, foster care, respite and adoption services for children with special needs, and outreach, support and residential services for high-risk young mothers, fathers and their babies.
