The Hawks (19-3) also reversely a help from senior Jim Kay, a transfer from Farmington High School who pitched a complete game Friday and improved his record to 8-1.

"He has done a great job, and that was something we didn't anticipate," Horington said. "He showed a lot of heart today, pitching on two days rest."

"Intip tu as at a little disadvantage, I was concerned about that, because their pitcher was a little more rested. Jimmy came through and did the job."

Kay scattered eight Salem his, allowing no more than two per inning, while striking out four and walking one batter.

The Rocks (15-13) also had a well-pitched, complete game from Stave Gordon, who allowed seven hits but spread them around, too.

"We just didn't play well,"
Salem coach Dale Rumberger said. "This game was so uncharacteristic of the way we've played the last three weeks."
The Rocks had won 10 of their last 13 games and averaged 9% runs during that stretch, "but we didn't get it done today," Rumberger added.

'Lou Hadley and Nick Vitanis had base hits and scored runs in the Harrison third on Matt Lee's fielder's choice and an error. Tim Doig knocked in Lee with a recundout.

The Hawks added a run in the fourth on back to-back singles by Nelson (S-for-3) and Kant Taylor, a sacrifice by Jake Ghannam and Marcus Mencotti's suice Squeeze that sorred Nelson.

The key to the game was our execution, 'Herrington said. 'We were able to get the squeeze that count down and make the first and-third steal.

Against a guy like Gordon, you're not going to get a lot of hits. You have to take advantage of what you do get."

They had a couple bleeders that got through, but that's ball, 'Rumbergre said. 'You make your own breaks.

It thought we had a chance to win the game, but we didn't swing the bat in key situations.

In the first inning, Salem had runners at first and second with one out, but Ghannam turned an inning-ending double play from third base.

The Rocks scored in the fourth groundout.

Winter started the sixth with another hit, and Adam Kolb's ground-rule double put runners at second and third with one out again.
Kolb's drive to deep center would have scored Winter, but the ball went under the fence and the runners had to halt.

Winning pitcher: Senior Jim Kay pitched a solid seven innings Friday to earn the win for Farmington Harrison at Plymouth Salem in the championship game.

Kay stopped the threat with a strikeout and a groundout.
