Family Traditions
Family traditions and customs can be wonderful, and are essential for passing on culture. Many families establish them and pass them on without even realizing their significance. A common tradition observed by many is celebrating a family member's birthday with a cake and candles. For many families it just wouldn't seem like a birthday without a cake. Different cultures have various customs that are passed down from one generation to another, and tradition is what helps to define who we are. Being aware of God in our lives and having a deep faith and trust in Him can also be passed down in a family. The Bible tells us that if we train our children in the way they should go, then when they are old they will not depart from it. Attending religious services, praying, and having respect for others are all good attributes that a loving family can pass down to future generations. The Bible is filled with tradition, and God honors the family that loves Him and lives according to His will.
Therefore, brethren, stand fast, and hold the traditions which ye have been taught, whether by word, or our epistle.
K.J.V. 2 Thessalonians 2:15
