into the back of the net," Russell said. "It was a clean line drive."

The Raiders (8-10-2) got an insurance goal from Megan Callahan in the second half. Jenna Street was fouled and Callahan put the free kick from 25 yards on target.

It was a nice, well-placed shot, just under the crossbar," Russell said. "Megan has been stepping up and doing whatever we've needed her to do. She's been a great all-round player the second half of the season."

North goalie Anna Muir earned her fifth shutout and had five quality saves, according to Russell.

"Anna was into the game the whole time," he said. "You could tell she never left the game, even when we put a lot of pressure on Ladywood."

"She's a senior and it's been her most solid year by far. We nicknamed her the wall, even in past years, but she's been real dependable this year."

The Blazers (8-8-1) were a quality opponent and gave the Raiders a good battle, Russell added.

"They had skilled players," he said. "There was a lot of good midfield play both ways."

"Without a doubt we had the ball in their end for a greater part of the game. We hustled with them and were up to the task."

Everybody played well for the Raiders, according to Russell, especially Hogan, who had one of her best games of the season.

She was earning a lot of chances for us, winning a lot of 50-50 balls," Russell said. "It was the kind of game we always knew she was capable of playing."

Lauren Hogan returned after missing a couple weeks with a severe sprain and played most of the first half.

"That was a significant boost for the team," Russell said. "She was very brave, also. She didn't just come back and be a figure-head."

Joyce Chung played center midfield and shut down her Ladywood counterpart, Katie Rozum, and Ashley Lynch contained opposing forward Sandy Swish.

"It got to where (Rozum) pulled back to their defense, because she wasn't becoming part of their offense," Russell said. "(Lynch) had to do a lot of running, because Sandy Swish is a fast player."

Street, who usually plays mid-field, Callahan and Boothroyd also were standouts on defense. Catherine Munaco, Danielle Navas, Lauren McKinney and Nicole Adona were key contributors for the Raiders, too.

"(Navas) has really stepped up from last year," Russell said. "I can't tell you how valuable she's been to us, because it wasn't something we expected coming into the season."

He added McKinney "was a little tentative all season until the last four or five games. Now she's become a player I rarely take off the field."

Falcons claw Panthers

One of the best soccer seasons Farmington has had was still a work in progress late last week.

The Falcons (14-6) blitzed host Redford Union in a district tournament semifinal game Thursday.

"That's the second-most wins Farmington has ever had," coach Steve Montgomery said following a 6-0 rout of RU.

The record belongs to the 1989 team, which had 16 wins and one tie.

Bucky Veltling and Cassie Beatty divided up the goalkeeping chores, with Veltling playing the first three quarters of the match as RU managed just two shots on goal.

Six girls scored for the Falcons, who beat the Raiders, 2-0, to win the public school city championship on May 21.

Catherine Brouillette and Lorraine DeDomenico each scored a goal and an assist. Stephanie Arnold, Erin DeRisi, Julie Goettlicher and Maggie Vaillancourt scored the other goals. Erica Rose had two assists and Kristen Pietila one.

"Our girls played a great game," Montgomery said. "We pretty much controlled the mid-field and everything."

"At some point, we had six or seven starters out and were resting them for the (district final). Things were going pretty well. Thirteen goals in two games; that's pretty good."

Tara Williams made nine saves for the Panthers (7-8-3).

"They pretty much controlled the game," RU coach Colleen Hunter said. "We played much better in the second half, allowing a goal and another on a penalty shot, but they were a much better team."

"We played as hard as we could, but it's a tough way to end the season. The seniors played hard at their last home game."

Force wins share of division title

The Farmington Force of the Farmington Soccer Club tied for first place in the under-10 Red Select Division of the Canton Tournament.

The Force shut out its first two foes, Troy and Rockford, with Mike Ferris and Corey Johnston scoring the winning goals.

Douglas Babler, the goalie for Farmington, gave up his first goal of the tournament in the final game to Hamburg.

The defense for Farmington was led by Mike Jones and David Bussey with help from Max Trotz and Noah Marciniak on the wings.

Jake Metzger was chosen MVP for Farmington. Lance Pachero, Andrew Heidacker, Kevin Lasek and Ryan Roberts provided excellent all-round play, too.

The Force will have tryouts for the fall team at Pioneer Park 6-8 p.m. June 18 and 20. For more information call coach Butch Babler at 477-7983.
