

Hanukah

Festival begins Dec. 9

Hanukkah, the Jewish Festival of Lights, will be observed this year from sundown on Sunday, Dec. 9 through sundown Monday, Dec. 17.

Dec. 17.

This year's celebration is particularly poignant in the aftermath of Sept. 11, with Osama bin Laden call for a Jihad against all people, especially Americans and Jews worldwide, who are not of his faith. The Jewish festival is a commemoration of the first modern day fight for religious freedom.

Hanukkah marks the victory of the Maccabees in 164 BC over King Antiochus, who had tried to force the Jews to renounce their faith and customs, and to worship Greek idols. Hanukkah serves as a reminder that tyranny must be fought in order to preserve religious freedom.

The Jewish Community Council in Bloomfield Hills offers these details:

What Hanukkah is: A festive holiday, celebrated for eight days and eight nights beginning the 25th of Kislev on the Hebrew lunar calendar, Hanukkah is also called Festival of Lights.

What it is not: Although it usually falls in late November or during the month of December, Hanukkah is not the Jewish Christmas. Christmas is a sacred Christian holy day that celebrates the birth of Jesus, the Christian messiah, while Hanukkah is a festival observed by Jewish families.

How it is celebrated: A candle is lit on the first night of the holiday, with an additional candle lit each successive night until, on the final night, eight candles are burning. In addition to the eight candles on the menorah, or candelabrum, there is a master candle called the shammas, which is used to light all the other candles.

Its holder is placed at the top or to one side of the other holders. The candles are of many bright colors, adding to the joy of the holiday. Special prayers of praise and thanksgiving hymns are recited during every service over the eight days.

Hanukkah is also marked by the giving of gifts. Among the special foods prepared during Hanukkah are latkes, or potato pancakes, and jelly-filled doughnuts.

Adat Shalom Synagogue, at 29901 Middlebelt in Farmington Hills, plans a Family Hanukkah Celebration on Wednesday, Dec. 12, from 6-8 p.m.

There will be lighting of the menorah (special candle-holder), songs and a Dreidle Dance which will include the Hanukkah Huddle, Maccabees Macarena and Latke Limbo, according to Adina Shalom spokeswoman Judy Marx.

Chairwoman for this event is Norma Dorman of West Bloomfield.
