

Porch, pillars, built-ins define large home

The Fern View is a 4,673-square-foot home with a huge walk-around covered porch. Half moon windows accent the facade and the arches on the covered porch further an extraordinary look. The combination of shakes, wood siding and brick provides a rustic appearance.

Doors open through the deck into the mechanical room with a storage room behind. Two water heaters for this large home as well as the forced air unit are in this room.

French doors open to a vaulted entry lined with windows. Across from the entry is a private office, also behind French doors, lined with built-in cabinets and shelves.

For convenience, a half bath is adjacent to the office.

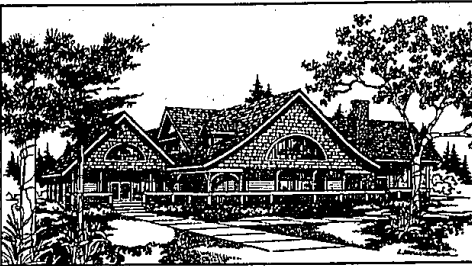

Entering the main part of the home, the kitchen and dining room are on the left. The cabinets in the kitchen wrap around the center island, making the area cozy and comfortable.

An eating bar separates the dining room from the kitchen. Sliding doors open onto the covered deck porch in the rear.

An elegant archway opens into the vaulted great room.

Overhead is a balcony held up with pillars strategically placed.

Windows line the great room with a sliding glass door opening onto the porch. On the right side of this room is a fireplace with rock hearth.

At the rear of this great room is the utility room, easily accessible to the master bedroom.

The master is the only bedroom downstairs. The elongated bath behind a pocket door includes a corner walk-in closet, shower, spa tub, his-and-her sinks and a linen closet.

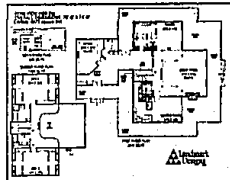

Two bedrooms, each with access to its own bath, are upstairs. Each bedroom has large windows, attic storage on the sides and slanted ceilings.

Bedroom 2 has two large wall closets and the entry to this bath is in the hallway.

Bedroom 3 has one large wall closet and the entry to this bath is private to this bedroom.

The model - the Skyline - is an upper of about 1,700 square feet. The two bedrooms are on either side of the unit.

The master, with cathedral ceiling, features a two-way fireplace between the bed and bath portions, a two-sink vanity, walk-in closet and compartmentalized toilet.

The kitchen contains a half-wall/breakfast bar that opens toward the dining area. The great room has a cathedral ceiling.

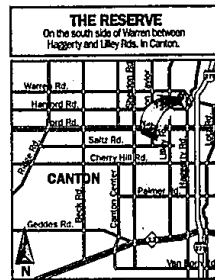

The unit also features curved walls and niches and will rent for $2,400, which includes water.

The Reserve at Copper Creek has good freeway access to I-275. Shopping and Canton's municipal/recreational offerings are fairly close, also.

"Just the uniqueness of the product" will bring people in, Brewer said. "You can buy a condo and rent an apartment. Where can you rent a condo?"

The community is within the Plymouth-Canton school boundaries.

The rental office/model in The Reserve at Copper Creek, (734) 394-0000, is open noon to 6 p.m. daily. A couple condos in Copper Creek still are available for purchase.
