DuBoisville

Not long ago two touring cars, carrying a group of nine prosper-ous looking gentlemen of middle age, arrived at the corner of the Seven Mile road and the Thirteen taine Mile road and asked: "How far day. is it to Detroit?" "One way it is about eight miles and the other it in Detroit Monday. is a trifle over thirteen miles," terminate a T. Detroit Monday. plied the person interrogated.
"Which is the 'good road' way?" was the next question. "Neither daughter, Mrs Elza Simmons. one," was the answer given, and "The eight mile route leads to given Henry Evert Wednesday the person speaking continued; Palmer Park and is so sandy and up and down hill that it birthday. sandy and up and down hill that it orthogy. "Well, wouldn't that get you! and in Wayne county, too," observed a sedate gentleman whose observed, in concert, "Go to it, in Detroit Tuesday to see Mrs. Jack," to their chauffeur and the Simmons' brother, Jesse Chilson, grease wagons were soon invisible who is very sick in Harper hosin the dust way up the Seven Mile pital. thoroughfare.

A delightful sequel to the closing of the summer term of school in the cation. took place last Friday afternoon, the 21st inst. By invitation of Miss Elsie May Oven, who has had charge of the school in question the past three years, the graduating members of the eighth grade class were her guests at the home of her parents near the village of Dear born. The fortunate ones were the Misses Pearl Churches, Edna Westlake, Helen Smith and Marian Hathaway They were met at the Dearborn interurban station by Miss Oven and accompanying her to her home a few pleasant hours were passed, culminating in a din ner. The table was tastefully laid with floral decorations in pink. green and white and the repast served was dainty and delicious. At each guest's plate was the for mal, valuable diploma and throughout the function good will prevailed. With many exchanges of pleasant memories the graduates took leave of their teacher and hostess, hoarding the Detroit bound car at six o'clock, on their way to their respective homes in Redford township. Next to their diplomas and the recollection of the day, the young ladies prized most highly the farewell pink roses which Miss Oven pinned on their breasts as they departed.

One may travel far and seek diligently without finding so rare and beautiful picture as that presented by the sturdy and complacent Thomas Roper and his serene, coruteous and musical-voiced wife, Charlotte. That they are venerable beneath the weight of 86 years only adds to the beauty of the un disturbed columness with which they continue their interest in their pleasant home and with current affairs in and about Duboisville. Mr. Roper is justly proud over the forward and well kept condition of his garden, all due to his own in dustry and skill, and Mrs. Roper is equally proud of her ability and activity as a home maker. Mr. Roper came to Redford township from England in 1851. A year later he was followed by his wife and girl baby, Mrs. VanDyke.
Except, passing a few years on a
