Animals find new homes at Hogs for Cats and Dogs

In spite of the cool, rainy weather, the second annual "Hogs for Cats and Dogs" held at Motor City Harley-Davidson in Farmington Hills was a roaring success, with 40 animals finding new homes. "This was a great venue for some of our older animals," said Sue Schweim, Community Development Director at the Michigan Humane Society. "We had an 8-year-old young Husky find a terrific new family. We can't thank Dick Rose, Tom Celani and the rest of the great HOGS (Harley Owners Group) at Motor City Harley-Davidson enough for this opportunity."

Although rain kept the live music from playing, it didn't hamper the festivities. "The weather didn't hold anybody back and Motor City Harley-Davidson couldn't be happier," said Donna Hammar, long-time Michigan Humane Society volunteer and event planner for Motor City Harley-Davidson. The camaraderie was evident as fans of motorcycles and animals rubbed elbows. Event attendees browsed Harley-Davidson motorcycles, accessories and clothing items, enjoyed some terrific "harley" cooked barbecue, and some found new best friends.

Many event goers donated pet supplies and opened their wallets to benefit the animals at the Michigan Humane Society. The Southfield Police Department K-9 Unit wowed spectators with their demonstration of the training and abilities of the K-9 Unit dogs. The Michigan Humane Society is a private, non-profit organization dedicated to serving the animals since 1877. The Society operates three animal shelters, three charitable animal hospitals and a pet education center in metro Detroit.
