arrangements). Two pots are filled with miscellaneous herbs and flowers; two benches provide seating.

Pat Sagert and Glenna Long are co-captains of this herb garden, where every plant is labeled. Julie Miller also helps in this garden.

ROSE GARDEN

"The popular rose garden is blooming well now because we installed an 8-foot tall deer fence that keeps them out," said Kim Zelinski, facility operations manager. "It was the biggest thing we did this year and it works."

The 18 half-circle beds of roses and perennials entice visitors. Flowers are planted according to bloom color and boxwood borders each rose bed in this formal garden.

Rose experts Gerald Carney and Nancy Lindley have been, and continue to be, of great help here.

The patio garden near the tent is filled with catnip, thyme and Bonica roses. Several shrubs also add color. Urns decorate the loggia at the back of the house and are planted with hibiscus and variegated ivy.

Zelinski planted two huge urns that flank the front entrance to the home. They are filled with coleus, dahlia, elephant ears, sweet potato vines and licorice splash.

The 80 club members have been faithfully grooming the gardens that surround the former home of Matilda Dodge Wilson, which is now part of Oakland University.

These volunteers take turns being captain of a garden, and report their progress and needs at the end of the year so that necessary funds can be allotted for the next season.

Bresette and Zelinski oversee this part of the garden management.

For further information, call Carol Zimmerman at (248) 650-9044.

Past members are encouraged to attend the Aug. 22 event. To RSVP, call (248) 650-9044.
