The community will enjoy the first musical at Our Lady of Sorrows as a student cast takes to the stage in the church hall.

"OLS created its first fine arts committee, which is producing a children's musical of The Wizard of Oz," said Margaret Bezzerko, a parent volunteer at Our Lady of Sorrows in Farmington. "There are approximately 60 students, grades six-eight, from the church and school, in the performance."

The production, which is sold out, developed as a result of director and parent Amy Malaney's passion for fine arts and her efforts to bring fine arts and live theater to OLS middle school students and parish members.

"This fine arts program has something to offer kids at all levels of experience. It promotes the growth and development of the experienced actor as well as introduces the basic elements of live theater and behind-the-scenes activities to students interested in learning about live theater."

Adult volunteers lead the crew, which consists of sixth-eighth graders.

The main characters are Elizabeth Bezzerko as Dorothy; Annemarie Hensoldt as the Scarecrow; Mary Helen Malaney as Tinman; Meagan Giovanni as the Cowardly Lion; Abigail Wright as the Wicked Witch; Arianna Church as Toto; Caitlyn Fitzsimmons as Auntie Em; Brian Batlersby as Uncle Henry; Nicholas Dolecki as Professor Marvel; Jimmy Rachid as the Voice of Oz; Robert Dolecki as Oz; Caryn Miller as Glinda; Brian Kozlars as the Guard; Elizabeth Racey as Tree #1; Melissa Stokoski as Tree #2 and Aimee Jokinen as Tree #3.

"Oz has been a true parish community undertaking and the kids have been actively involved in every process," Bezzerko said. "The children have assisted with making costumes, staging, constructing and painting props, and the set, lighting, program design and ushering. Parents and other parish members have worked together to make this a successful and fun program. Everyone is excited about the project."
