HOCKEY

The score remained 2-1 until 21 seconds into the third period when Hay notched a power-play goal from Ian Chornoby and Hand.

And then the Flyers kept going and going and going.
"We forgot to play in the third period," said Hunter after his team fell to 5-6. "We got away from the things we did right in the first two periods."

"We didn't pick up the guy in the middle; we just forgot to play. The two best teams we've played - Grosse Ile and Farmington - we were either ted up down one going into the third and forgot to show up."

Brett Laird gave Farmington a 4-1 lead (from Victor Calagias and Mike Slinger), while Dave Lajca (from Vince McKeon and David Kennedy) made it 5-1.

Hermix (from Hand and Hay) made it 6-1 and Hay finally closed out the scoring from Hay and Hermix.

Farmington dominated the shots on goal as RU's Dennison Sowders stopped 37 of the 44 shots he faced, while Lefthal Levran made 15 saves on 16 shots.

CC steps Cranes

Cranbrook came close to knocking off Redford-Detroit Catholic Central, but three goals in the third period gave the visiting Shamrocks a 5-3 win over the host Cranes Friday.

"We forgot to play in the third period. We got away from the things we did right in the first two periods."
Mirk Hunter
RU coach

"We were a little flat coming off a big win against Culver," said CC co-coach "Bud" Johnson. "We got a wake-up call after the first period. We had to work hard in the last two periods."

Matt Fritz drew first blood for Cranbrook, but Eric Gloss made it 1-1 with a power-play goal from Andrew Eggert and Eric Reinhardt. After the Cranes made it 2-1 after one period, Reinhardt tied it up on a power-play goal from Eggert and Gloss.

Drew Schmalze gave the Cranes a 3-2 lead in the second period, but Brandon Naurato tied the score five minutes into the third from Gloss and Eggert. Gloss made it 4-3 from Naurato and Eggert, while Nathan Perkovich closed out the scoring from Billy Burns and Tom Mullen.

Jim Blanchard made 16 saves for CC (11-2 overall, 5-0 Michigan Interscholastic Hockey League) while Cranbrook's Andy Chinn made 37 saves.
