Last Saturday two girls, Miss Lillian Roediger and Geraldine Everett, were thrown from a buggy on school street and fortunately escaped serious injury. The buggy was damaged a little and Miss Roediger's violin broken. The horse ran only a short distance before he was caught.

The 40 acre farm of George Caunt was recently sold for cash to A. MacKenzie. Mr. Hitchman also sold 40 acres near Perrinsville for A. D. Pitcher to C. M. Beebe; half an acre on Stansbury avenue to E. V. Lee; six lots on Orchard Park avenue near Grand River, and three more acre lots on his subdivision at Redford; also 25 acres near Farmington to Thos. Deansmore.

The road crew made a little headway this week as they managed to get a few carloads of gravel and they have completed the cement roadbed to a point considerably west of Stuckey's corners. The road is now open to the thirteen mile road.

Dr. Guy L. Kiefer, Detroit health officer, addressed quite a good-sized audience in the M. E. church last Sabbath morning on the topic of "Public Health." In spite of the pouring rain quite a number came from a distance to hear the address. The township, village and school boards were well represented, while no less than four full-fledged M. D.'s and one other medical student were in the congregation. Practically all the school teachers in the township and village were also present. It was indeed quite a scholastic meeting. Dr. Kiefer's address was practical and yet very scholarly. All expressed themselves as profited by his coming.

Inasmuch as the delay in securing material precludes the possibilities of the Grand River road being built through to the county line this season it seems hardly good policy to do the grading so much farther than the road is likely to be completed.

M. E. Conference Appointments

Among the appointments of the Methodist conference which closed this week at Alpena we find the following which are of interest to the people of this section:

Rev. Geo. E. Gullen for three years at Farmington goes to the West Grand Boulevard church in Detroit. Rev. S. W. Horner of Sault Ste Marie takes the place of Mr. Gullen at Farmington.

Rev. C. M. Loomis, who made such a record in building the new Redford church, is returned there for another year.

Rev. R. M. Pierce is returned to Northville and C. E. Wakefield to Birmingham.

Rev. Joseph Dutton goes to Plymouth. Rev. Dr. H. Glass to the Pontiac Central and W. G. Nixon to the First at Pontiac. F. L. Walker to Rochester, O. T. Olson to Royal Oak, and E. R. Stevenson to Wayne.

Revs. Gullen and Horner

Rev. Geo. E. Gullen, who has been stationed at Farmington for the past three years, and where he is very popular, goes to the new West Grand Boulevard Methodist church in Detroit. This church made strenuous efforts to get Mr. Gullen a year ago, but he thought his duty was to stay another year in Farmington. His health has been very poor for some time and he seriously contemplated taking a rest for a year as recently stated in this paper.

The church to which he goes, although a new one, is among the strong ones, and among the members are many of the wealthy and influential residents of the city.

Mr. Gullen is one of the bright lights among the younger members of the conference and the advancement is but natural. He is an indefatigable worker, an able preacher, an eloquent talker and a broad and liberal thinker and student. With good health a bright future is in store for the young minister.

The removal of himself and wife from Farmington will be deeply regretted by a large number of friends, who will all wish the best of success for their future.

Rev. Dr. Horner, late pastor of the First M. E. church, Sault Ste. Marie, the present pastor of the Farmington M. E. church, is a preacher of great power and one of the strongest ministers in the state.

Dr. Horner has filled some of the most important pulpits in Detroit, being pastor one term at Simpson M. E. church, Martha Holmes M. E. church, Ypsilanti, Mt. Clemens, and comes to us directly from the most important church in northern Michigan.

Next to Dr. Geo. Elliott, Dr. Horner is the best preacher in the Detroit conference. The committee tee from Dr. Horner's former charge went to Alpena to the seat of conference to secure his return to them, but in vain. Dr. Horner wished to live nearer to Detroit, where his son and daughter live. The committee declared Dr. Horner to be pre-eminently a young people's pastor and preacher. They emphatically asserted that he had done more for the young people at his last charge than any other pastor they had had in 30 years.

Farmington is very fortunate in seeing in securing such a scholarly, affable, christian gentleman to be their M. E. pastor.

Newspaper to Serve all Alike

This paper numbers among its readers and friends men of nearly all the political parties. The aim of the editor is to publish a purely local paper, one that will be welcome in all the homes of this vicinity. For this reason we have in the past and will in the future, give space in the columns of the paper for political news matter for all parties. This is but simple justice to our readers and patrons inasmuch as there is but one paper in this village.

However the editor is a Republican and reserves the right to express his own personal opinions editorially whenever he desires to do so, but will, at the same time, give the use of the paper to others for the same purpose, subject at all times, to the ability of the office to handle the matter. We will welcome short articles at any time provided that they are honest and free from personalities.

Farmington Guild Meets

The regular monthly meeting of the Farmington Guild was held Monday evening at the home of Miss Tessa Pierson. About 60 members were present and enjoyed the evening.

In the absence of President Harger, Howard Warner occupied the chair. The most important business transacted was the election of Mark Owen as president to fill the vacancy left by the removal of S. D. Harger to Chicago.

After the business session a pleasant social hour was spent and refreshments served.

M. E. Services Next Sunday

M. E. services Sunday, Sept. 22: 10:30 a. m. Rev. D. M. Ward will preach. Dr. Horner, the pastor, will not be able to be present in his new charge until Sunday, Sept. 29. Rev. Ward, one of us and beloved of all of us, has kindly consented to supply the pulpit the first Sunday of the new conference year. Let us stand loyally by the church and our brother and fill the church with a large audience next Sunday morning. Mr. Ward has always so willingly assisted us at shortest notice in spite of failing health. We all owe him a deep debt of gratitude.

11:30 a. m. Sunday school service. Now that the public school has started again let us come back to Sunday school. We want every boy and girl and every father and mother not in any other Sunday school to attend ours.

6:15 p. m. Epworth League.

7:00 p. m. Rev. D. M. Ward will preach.

Card of Thanks

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Phelps wish to thank their neighbors and friends who so kindly remembered Mr. Phelps with post cards Wednesday, it being his 69th birthday. He received 100 cards.

Good Reason for Vacation

"I am determined to go on a vacation!"

Whittier looked almost fierce as he spoke. Cleverton regarded him with a quizzical look.

"You have a comfortable home?" he asked.

"Splendid; nothing could be better."

"And a loving wife?"

"None more so. Studies to please all the time. Never obtrudes herself, and is silent when desirable."

"You are in good physical condition?"

"Very; never felt better."

"No trouble of any sort, no hidden worry that you want to get away from?"

"None whatever. Everything is serene."

"What, then, is the reason for your going?"

Whittier smiled.

"My dear boy," he replied, "don't you know that when everything is running smoothly, when there is absolutely no cause for complaint, when you simply couldn't improve on the present condition if you tried—don't you understand that then the pure and unadulterated goodness of human nature absolutely demands that something be done to upset the harmony of things? That's why I'm going on a vacation. I'm looking for trouble."

The above is printed just for fun. No, it is not referred to the Progressives or the Democrats, but they can read it if they choose.
