LIGHT

Do You Get All You Pay For?

The useful life of an incandescent lamp is approximately 1950 hours of illumination. Further use results in diminishing efficiency. Lamps giving less than their normal candle power are frequently found in use.

Accumulation of dust on shades and reflectors may waste from 30 to 40 per cent of the light. Regular inspection (and cleaning) will eliminate this loss. Walls and ceilings, when dark and sooty, may absorb from 50 to 75 per cent of the light falling on them. Paint and water corrects this defect.

A telephone call will bring one of our illuminating engineers for an inspection of your lighting. This is part of our service.
