

"DIRECTORY ARTISTS AT WORK USING TRICKERY"

Solicitors for so-called "trade directories" are tricking business institutions of this section into signing an ironclad contract, which is verbally represented as a mere "listing questionnaire."

Many of these so-called "trade directories" are never published, but invoices covering these trick contracts are promptly presented for payment.

Many of these blanks resemble a bona fide questionnaire, with the contract itself put away in an obscure corner, or, occasionally, printed on the back.

Do not pay tribute to the clever but unscrupulous "directory artist." Get the facts first. Read before you sign any blank or questionnaire, and when you do so, demand a copy.—Butter Business Bureau.

How to Attain Perfect Figure
By KING LARDNER

To the Editor:

I have been every place you go nowadays where there's a mixed gathering, the people that ain't talking about Mr. Coolidge's coat is disgusting their diet and how to get fat or thin especially the last named and whenever I go walk in anywhere where the hostesses don't expect to go, you generally always can find a book on the living room table, or how to get skinny and etc. so it seems like this is the most important problem outside the Y&P questions, and the women folks is all spending hundreds of dollars on books that will learn them how to get fat or how to get thin.

Obviously begins at home like everything else and what I am setting at is that the only people who can learn you how to reduce or build up is people that did it themselves and is normal and can tell you what they done to get that way. Like the last you would not go to Radio City for beauty hints like no more than you would ask Lillian Gish which check to park your tobacco in vs. a left hander.

Well, friends, I don't like to begin, but it looks like they want nobody better fitted to give advice on the fat and lean question than the undersigned and if I can be of any assistance to my friends that is worried about their weights who I'll overlook my prejudices in regards to having secret of my private life and sacrifice myself on the altar of pro bono publico.

Let there be any doubts as to my qualifications along these lines, why here's the figures by which a person finds out how much they should weigh to weigh according to their height. Multiply the number of inches you are over 5 ft. tall by 2 1/2 and then add that to 110. Well friends I am 12 1/2 inches over 5 ft. tall and multiply 2 1/2 by 2 1/2 and I get 7 1/4 and when you add that on to 110 it makes 117 1/4, averduoids which is exactly where I tip the oil beam. In other words my weight is ideal like pretty near everything else.

"How does the body do it," you ask. "Well, friends, I am going to lay all my cards on the table and tell you the system I generally always follow in regards to diet and exercise and if my fat and skinny friends will also try and follow out a similar program, I don't see why they shouldn't also get to be perfect."

First we will take eating. I generally always eat in a room where they's a riot. I try and get to meals on time as I prefer my own kitchen. I always set in a straight back chair and face east. I never talk at meals as when I talk I like to be heard. I never accept no invitations to meals at nobody's house unless I already been there and know that mine host is a good provider.

Now in regards to exercises, I never let nobody feed me and I always dress and undress myself. I always shave standing up. Shaving three or four times per week is enough to keep the bowstring taut, but if I find I'm a couple of overweight I shave every day and reduce the flesh on the neck. In brushing the hair I can also generally manage to lose a little.

When the door bell rings I always walk, not run, to the nearest exit. In the morning I always snatch the paper to quicken the eye. I hold it myself and turn the pages myself. When I see that my thumbs is getting too fat I roll my own cigarettes and I always smoke plenty of them as they's no exercises that brings more muscles into play than coughing and tossing in bed.

I always wash my hands before retiring and my face when necessary, though one of my friends says it is silly to wash your face when you go to bed as they won't nobody be likely to see if its dirty or clean and it's just as foolish to wash it when you get up as you ain't been anywhere to get it soiled. But do it 2 or 3 times per wk. anyway to reduce the soap.

Bathing as exercise depends on what kind of a tub you got. The andam picked me up and bought it by the front of it and I guess we must have been pretty near broke at the time. Anyway when I have took a bath I generally always feel like challenging Tunney.

I go to bed pretty near every night at 9 or 10 o'clock but once in a while somebody comes in to play cards and I take setting up exercises. I generally manage to lose a little this way.

But if a person really wants to limit their diet I don't know of any better scheme than to buy a car or take up golf. In a short while you won't be ordering no vienes near as much groceries or if you do the grocery won't send them. But as for golf itself making a person thin or fat it depends on who you are playing with. Most of the boys I play with is so rapped up in their own game that I can generally take off a couple of strokes.

Personally it seems kind of funny to me why there should be so many people worrying these days about getting stout when they can't nobody only a white wings or a bell hop afford to eat anything but roots and herbs. They must be something hidden food that most people takes out. Maybe they's some truth in the old saying "Laugh and grow fat" and the combination of income tax and telephone service is too much for us.

REFRIGERATOR DROPPED FROM PLANE INTO SEA, IS PICKED UP SAFELY

Greetings from Detroit officials to representatives of the nation's electric light industry in convention at Atlantic City, were dropped from the skies in a Kelvinator electric refrigerator by Eddie Stinson, who flew to the convention last week.

Stinson had undertaken to fly Campbell Mitchell and Lyle Hunt, both of the Kelvinator Corporation, to the convention. As they were carrying with them one of Kelvinator's new models, it was decided to place the machines in the refrigerator and drop it into the surf at Atlantic City. The refrigerator, containing the letters, was attached beneath the fuselage of the monoplane and was cut loose as the plane swooped over the breakers. It was picked up safely a few minutes later by coast guards and its contents were delivered intact and dry to their destination.
