Brothers Confess 22 Cottage Burglaries

maintained by Deputy Tamm for some time since a report was made that a County grader shed on the 14-Mile road west of Orchard Lake road has been broken into several times lately, and Friday at midnight Deputy Tamm drove to the shed. There he came upon two young men who had broken in. He took them into custody.

While this was ensuing two other young men drove by in a small car with a delivery-box on the rear. Deputy Tamm had seen the same car on a night some time ago when four tires were stripped from an automobile owned by George Heliker. Deputy Tamm looked at the tires on the machine, saw two of the same make that were reported stolen and ordered the Summey brothers into his car with the other two. All four were brought to Farmington.

The two other young men were released after questioning and warning. The Summey brothers were held for examination.

Tour Lake District

On Sunday morning, Deputy Tamm accompanied by Deputies K. L. Philipotts and Albert Ekstrom, started on a tour of the Lakes with the Summey brothers. At Walled Lake they were joined by Deputy Wellie Coe.

According to Deputy Tamm, the Summey brothers readily admitted entries of cottages the merchandise of which could be identified, but denied all others. In all, they admitted breaking into ten cottages at Pleasant Lake, eight at Wolverine and Spring Lakes, and four at Walled Lake. They also confessed, Deputy Tamm stated, stealing the four tires from the automobile of George Heliker north of Farmington, and taking oil and 30 gallons of gasoline from the County grader since besides theft of two tires in Detroit.

Entered Twice

The cottage of F. B. VanWormer of Walled Lake was entered twice, the first time on August 19, and the second time quite recently. Much of his property was recovered and identified, it is understood.

According to Deputy Tamm, the brothers sold what articles they did not keep for a fraction of their value. A number of electric heating-plates, for instance, were sold for 45 cents to each second-hand store operators.

Took Food Also

Besides the furniture, clothing, and utensils, according to Deputy Tamm, the brothers rifled the cottages of everything in the way of food, canned goods, and preserves.

The Summeys, who waived examination before Judge Harry Harpster in Pontiac and pleaded guilty in Circuit Court, are said to have come to this section recently from the South.

Olden Days Revisited By Window Contest

displayed were used in the E. C. Grace store years ago. Cleverly worded placards, such as "before Edison rescued us," add further interest to the display.

F. L. Cook & Co. have also gone back to "the good old days," but have added variety also in the way of contrast. One half of their window is devoted to the old, the other to the new. Beside a very modern chair and end-table stand an old, worn chair made many years ago while round about are old lamps, candlesticks, a box made of shells, etc. Most interesting of all are some old account books uncovered by Mr. Cook. One goes back 50 years, and an entry made in October, 1879 by Dr. Woodman, the druggist at that time, consists of two items, charged to George Mosher known as "quite a character" at that time. The charges are for a pint of whiskey, 30 cents, and tobacco, 10 cents. Another book in the window is opened at a page bearing date of 1850.

Two more interesting windows are promised by merchants who are said to be planning surprises. The windows of Henry Pauline and Farmington Dairy are being awaited with interest.

Class at their meeting on Monday night voted to assist in the financing of the project and at the same meeting decided to plan a bazaar. Mrs. W. H. Hutton, Mrs. C. M. Hunter and Mrs. A. R. Heron were appointed a committee to plan the affair.

Covered Wagon Days

The bravery and determination displayed by the early settlers; their ability to overcome obstacles and accomplish their objects, make some of our efforts look puny by comparison.

With the superior advantages we have today, each one of us should in a few years be able to lay aside a substantial sum of money for our declining years.

We suggest an account as the means of doing this.
